THE NEWS FROM MAINE.

"O have you heard the news from Maine?"
The thunders 'mong her pines,
The shouts of victory again,
Along our steady lines?
And heard how her brave people thrust,
In their avenging hour,
The petty despots in the dust,
Who seized on place and power?

"O yes, we've "heard the news from Maine,"
And hear the shouts roll on,
That tell in loud, exultant strain,
The glorious battle won;
While in each clear and joyful tone,
An earnest voice doth say:
"Doubt not, Men of the Old Keystone
But work, and win the day!"

O yes, we've "heard the news from Maine."
And how her stalwart sons,
United, led by sturdy Blaine,
Stood to their trusty guns;
And in that lesson learn that we,
To crush the mongrel foe,
No halting, Fabian policy,
Must in our councils know.

O yes, we've "heard the news from Maine,"
And hail the harbinger,
Nor shall the message come in vain,
That bringeth such good cheer
And when rolls round November's route,
And foe and allies flee,
To Maine we'll thunder back the shout—
"Beaver and Victory!"

D. BRAINERD WILLIAMSON.

IT is doubtful if Wolfe will vote for Stewart.

PAY a state or county tax before the 7th of October.

THERE is nothing so lovely as "harmony" unless it is hard-money.

RHOADS and Rhone will make it hot for the "solid Democratic party."

THE convention is over and the campaign is here. Buckle on your armor.

THE interest in the Pennsylvania bi-centennial exercises at Philadelphia is rapidly on the increase.

IT is understood that any Democratic voter in Massachusetts who mentions the words spoon or beast during the present campaign will be immediately read out of the party.

ARABI BEY is reported as saying that if he had known as much about the English six months ago as he knows now, he would not have entered upon the contest which for him has just ended so disastrously.

IN some quarters the Democrats are advised to withdraw Pattison and concentrate on Stewart. The latter is the best man, but then he would stand no better chance of election than the Maryland boy.

REV. JOSEPH EDDY, a colored man, died in a miserable hovel in Philadelphia the other day. During life he denied himself nearly everything that is generally regarded as indispensable, and left behind an estate valued at $100,000.

THERE is every prospect that by the 7th of November everybody will want to vote in this state, and in anticipation of the coming desire all citizens should see that they have the essential qualifications of a voter. For one thing let it be noted that taxes should be paid on or before the 7th of October.

A Comparison.

Soldiers of Pennsylvania and all men who love your country, compare the records of the candidates offered for your suffrages by the two great political parties.

FOR GOVERNOR.

Republican Candidate—JAMES A. BEAVER, born in Pennsylvania, (Millerstown, Juniata county), moved to Centre county when a child, entered the three months service with the Bellefonte Fencibles (Co. H. 2d Penn'a Vols.), in April, 1861, and served the term out; returning, at once set about raising the 45th P. V., which organization was completed and marched to the field in October, 1862, with Beaver as its Lieut. Colonel. He served actively in the South Carolina coast campaign from which after many exposures and trials Beaver was called by Governor Curtin to take the Colonelcy of the 148th regiment (from his own neighborhood, Centre county), and in ten days after the organization of this regiment the bloody battle of Antietam was fought, in which Colonel Beaver lost his younger and only brother, Lieut. Gilbert Beaver killed.

The 148th was attached to the 1st Brigade, 1st Division of Hancock's 2d Corps. The letter of General Hancock written only last May, bears witness to Beaver's splendid services in the Army of the Potomac while under Hancock's eye. Severely wounded in May, 1863, at Chancellorsville, he kept his bed until June when Lee got into Pennsylvania. Unable to remain inactive, though suffering from his wound in the stomach, went to Harrisburg to assist in organizing the emergency troops which had been called out by Governor Curtin. After laboring night and day he shaped up the new regiments, and with his wound hardly healed he asked to rejoin his command, which he did in July, the month in which Gettysburg was fought.

In May, 1864, the bitter and destructive Wilderness campaign opened and Beaver was wounded again. He was offered the command of his brigade at once, but asked permission to remain with his regiment, which had now but 400 men left out of 800 that had started early in the month. In June, Beaver with his regiment took part in the hot marching at and around Cold Harbor, he being in command of the brigade on account of Gen'l Brooke being very severely wounded, and later Beaver himself was wounded again, but did not leave his command. With his command he crossed to the front of Petersburg with the rest of the army, and on the 16th of June led his men to the assault on the enemy's works in front of that city; in the assault Beaver was wounded again, this time severely, in the side near his old wound; he came North and was partially restored to health and strength, but being anxious to be in front of the foe he left home and endeavored to rejoin his Corps, which was then engaged with the enemy at Ream's Station, on the Weldon R. R. He did rejoin, being carried to the battle field in an ambulance (being unable to ride a horse but a short time). General Hancock welcomed him warmly, pointed out the position of his brigade, instructing him to take command at once. "The battle was imminent and there was only time to receive orders and execute them."

The short ride which Gen'l Beaver took to rejoin his brigade, which was in line of battle, distressed him much on account of his third wound, still unhealed, and he dismounted to superintend his part of the action, the management of his line, and watch the rebel advance. The assault began, but before the result could be determined Beaver was wounded again, this time very dangerously in the right thigh, making the amputation of his leg close up a matter of necessity. Though probably mortally wounded, after being carried to the rear he evinced the most lively interest in the unequal battle going on.

Democratic candidate—R. E. PATTISON, born in Maryland. Never in the army or naval service of this government.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Republican candidate—WM. T. DAVIES, entered the service with Co. B. 141st P. V., August, 1862. Promoted from 1st Sergeant to Captain, served with his regiment in all its battles until May 1863, when he was honorably discharged, being unable to serve further on account of disease contracted by exposure.

Democratic candidate—C. F. BLACK. Never in the army or navy of this government.

FOR JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Republican candidate—WM. HENRY RAWLE, enlisted in June, 1863, as Sergeant in Landis' Philadelphia Battery, and was discharged at the end of its term of service.

Democratic candidate—S. M. CLARK, voted against the right of the soldier to vote. Never in the army or navy of this government.

FOR SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS

Republican candidate—JOHN M. GREER, enlisted at the age of seventeen with his friends and neighbors of Butler county, Pa., in Co. D, 137th P. V., in which regimemt he served its full term, on the expiration of which he re-enlisted in 2d Pa. Artillery (12th P. V). Lost his brother, killed on June 17, 1864, and was himself badly wounded in July of the same year while in command of the company. After three years of war he was mustered out of the service he had entered as a boy and left a battle scarred veteran.

Democratic candidate—J.S. AFRICA. Never in the army or navy of this government.

FOR CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE.

Republican candidate—MARRIOTT BROSIUS, enlisted while a boy, Nov., 1861, in the ranks of the 97th P. V. Promoted after the battles of 1862 and 1863 to Corporal and Sergeant. Badly wounded May, 1864, and promoted to Lieutenant. Served in all the battles in which his regiment was engaged until his muster out at the close of the war.

Democratic candidate—M. F. ELLIOTT. Never in the army or navy of this government.

The men to whose names is attached the fateful sentence, "Never in the army or navy of this government," are those who will bear rule over you if the Democratic party is given the reigns of government.

Ben. Butler.

For the fifth time in his checkered political career Benjamin Franklin Butler stands before the people of Massachusetts a candidate for Governor. Four times routed, he is ready for another charge. Twice before the war he tried his luck, the first time polling 50,000 votes, the second 6,000. Then he was a Democrat, not particularly in love with slavery, but too much a Democratic politician to be willing to interfere with the live stock property interests of the South. In 1871 he wanted the Republican nomination, and went before the convention without success. In 1878, after having been a Union soldier and a Republican Congressman, he tried it again as the candidate of the Greenbackers and free-and-easy Democrats. The regular Democrats pitted Judge Abbott against him. The Republicans elected Talbot by a vote of 134,724 out of 256,242. But it was evident that Butler was the Democratic choice. He polled 109,435 votes against 10,162 for Abbott. The next year, 1879, he came up smiling once more. This time the vote was lighter by nearly 13,000. The Republicans sustained the loss, but they carried the election with Long as their candidate. Butler's vote was almost the same as the year before, 109,149, and so was that for the straight Democratic candidate, John Quincy Adams, who received 9,989.

THE Ohio election will take place on the 10th of October.

The Ticket.

The work of the late Republican County convention cannot fail to be satisfactory to every true Republican. Daniel Rhoads and Leonard Rhone as candidates for the legislature are as good a selection as could have been made and should not only receive every Republican vote, but also the vote of every other man who desires to see our county represented at Harrisburg by our very best representative men. Both of these gentlemen are well and favorably known throughout the county; both have hosts of warm and enthusiastic friends of every shade of political opinion; both will no doubt receive many votes outside of their own party; but whether they will receive enough to secure their election is a question deeply hidden in the "womb of the future." We hope they may. We feel that the best interest of our people will be served by their election. We will do all we can to secure such a result, but the people are the masters, and they must decide this, to them, important question.

The other gentlemen who were candidates before the convention received very complimentary votes. They are good Republicans and had they been nominated would have made a stirring campaign. There were four candidates for Jury Commissioner and quite a contest before the convention met. D. B. Kunes of Liberty was chosen on the first ballot. Mr. Kunes has always been an active Republican. If party fealty is a recommendation then he was entitled to success. Outside of that, however, he is a whole-souled fellow with hosts of friends who will stand by him through thick and thin. Of course he will be elected, but we expect also that he will poll much more than his party strength.

Dr. C. L. Addleman, of Milesburg, received the nomination for coroner by acclamation. He is a good, square Republican; this is the best recommendation we can give anyone.

There was quite a contest for the chairmanship of the county committee. Our friend, D. S. Keller, was the successful man. Under his leadership we shall muster after next January. He will make an efficient, faithful official.

The convention's work is done and well done. They have given us a ticket that every citizen can be proud to support. There was a very full representation, there being 89 delegates. The proceedings were very harmonious and the most interesting of any we ever saw in this county. It is true that before the convention met there was a spirited war of factions, but when the matter was decided the minority cheerfully acquiesced in the will of the majority as expressed, as it was their duty to do.

In the matter of party government, however, there are important principles involved. It is not, as some interested parties tried to make the delegates believe, a personal fight between the editor of this paper and John I. Rankin or any other man, but the contest is on the principles these two men represent—the one for a close corporation and the other for placing all the power in the hands of the people. It is their work and they should take an interest in it and do it. The members of the executive committee and township committee should be chosen by the Republicans of their several townships and not appointed here in Bellefonte. Evils have grown out of the old practice which have robbed us of success when it was within our grasp. There are other measures of party reform which should be adopted. We leave their discussion to the future; for the present we join heartily with all for the success of the excellent ticket nominated.

STEWART says if he withdrew from the field it would not make much difference. He is right.

The Situation.

The Watchman of last week devoted its columns to the special benefit of that portion of its readers who are almost entirely deficient of intelligence and never think or reason for themselves.

The idea of censuring General Beaver for any imaginary difficulty that may be found in the management of the State College is two preposterous to be considered by a sensible man for a moment. Since General Beaver has been associated with it its educational and financial status has advanced. It would be quite as proper to censure the President of the borough council for any fancied fault in the management of the borough finances, or the President of the borough school board because the education of the Bellefonte youth is costly.

The Watchman has not the courage of the Centre Democrat to declare free trade the settled policy of the Democratic party. Thus we have the two Democratic newspapers published in the same town apparently contradicting each other, and it will be found the same all over the country. The truth is, the Democrats have no convictions on this or any other important questions, and are governed entirely by the local feeling in the particular vicinity in which they may happen to be placed.

A thing our Democratic friends never try to do is to explain the present prosperity of the country and State; the independence of the industrious working ma[n] freedom which permits such [a] ering obstructionist to [s]peak prosperity as the Watchman to [e]. But the sensible voter will remember this and on the seventh of November will continue in power the party which has brought it about.

Meanwhile, let the Watchman continue its course. If it cannot convince it can at least furnish amusement.

IN his little speech before the reception committee at Philadelphia, the other evening, Pattison never once alluded to the poor house scandal. Will those Democratic papers that have been extolling that speech so highly tell us the reason why? Perhaps if he had written the speech he might have made some reference to Phipps.

To vote against the inexperienced and youthful Democratic candidate for governor, vote for General Beaver who lost a leg on a southern battle field. In voting for him you vote for a capable man, an experienced man, and a man worthy in every respect of being elevated to the chair of state. He is eminently fitted for the position; Pattison is not.

THE Democrat of last week labored earnestly to prove that all the statesmen that ever lived in this country were free trade advocates and that doctrine is the test for the Democratic party. We are quite willing that it shall remain, as it ever has been, the policy of that organization.

THE Democratic party's remarkable faculty for blundering is fast becoming proverbial. It is suggestive of the Irishman's account of a fight in which he was engaged. "The first time I hit him I missed him, an' bedad the second time I hit him I shtruck him jist where I did afore."

WE would suggest to that traveling democratic circus that is trying to nominate a candidate for senator that when they get through at Renovo they adjourn to Roopsburg. They could meet in the paper mill and have their beer sent in by the keg from the adjoining brewery.

REPUBLICANS, as a rule, love their country and obey its laws, paying their taxes whenever due. But least some may have neglected it, we repeat that a state or county tax must be paid before Saturday, the 7th of October. Don't forget it.

GENERAL NOTES.

A NORTH CAROLINA snake had two heads.

THURLOW WEED is so ill again as to cause anxiety among his friends.

SOME Ohio people were so eager to get into a circus that they crushed a child to death.

MISS HATTIE BROWN, of Erie, was killed by cars near that place on September 25 while out driving.

COMPLAINTS are made of the failure of congress to provide some form of civil government for Sitka.

AN ADVANCE in the price of coal has been announced by the Philadelphia and Reading coal and iron company.

MATTHEW CONLY, 14 years old, shot himself dead in Claremont, Mew Hampshire, recently because he had been reproved by his mother.

A PITTSBURGH father, whose two little lost girls had been found by the police, was so glad that he danced a breakdown in the Mayor's office.

THE body of Myron Stockbridge, accidentally drowned in the Big Black River, near Yazoo City, Mississippi, was found on the 25th of September.

SAMUEL JENNINGS, 22 years of age, a dissipated tailor of Greenborough, Maryland, committed suicide a few days ago by shooting himself through the heart.

THE supreme court of the United States will meet on the 9th of October. There are 958 cases on the docket, among them two involving civil rights and election laws.

MR. BIGELOW, Mason's counsel, who visited him the other day in the Albany penitentiary, says that Mason is looking bad and feeling quite discouraged. He is making shoes.

AN AGREEMENT has been negotiated with the Flathead tribe of Indians in Montana to allow the Northern Pacific railroad company to build their road through the reservation.

A TELEGRAM from Long Branch reports a continuance of high winds and tides with heavy sea, and says that "unless there is some abatement the bluff will be damaged irreparably."

JUDGE ACHESON, of the United States court for the Western district, has given a decision to the effect that the law exempting banks which pay one per cent. to the State from all other assessments is a nullity.

TWO BROTHERS named Heady attempted to row across a swollen stream in Dutchess county, New York, on Sunday night. Fearing they would be swept over a dam, they jumped overboard, and one of them was drowned.

GENERAL CROOK and his staff are at San Carlos, Arizona, investigating the causes of the Indian disaffection in that region. He has attended a meeting of a majority of the chiefs, and will now visit each tribe separately.

IT IS STATED that an effort will soon be made by the president of Princeton college to interest the students in civil service reform. Dr. McCosh is said to have had "large experience in inaugurating this reform in England."

IT IS REPORTED from Peoria that about 10 per cent. of the corn in Central Illinois has been killed by the recent frost. A telegram from Springfield says that "no damage of any consequence" has been done in that vicinity.

LUCIUS EDMUNDS, alias John Spicy, was killed on Wednesday, September 27, at Leary's Georgia, while resisting arrest by a sheriff's posse. Spicy wounded one of the posse and accidentally shot, perhaps fatally, his own wife.

GENERAL JOHN PAYNE, of Warsaw, Kentucky, probably is the oldest pioneer on the United States pension rolls. He is 87 years of age and has been drawing a pension for the loss of an arm in the service ever since 1820—sixty-two years.

THE general conference of the Canadian Methodist church, in session at Hamilton, Ontario, adjourned on Thursday, after having made "a number of important concessions with a view to the early completion of the Methodist union."

GENERAL GEORGE STONEMAN, the Democratic candidate for Governor of California, has resigned his position as colonel on the retired list of the army. The acceptance of his resignation was signed last week by General Sherman, acting as Secretary of War.

SOMEBODY with a vivid imagination has written to a Baltimore paper that exactly at 9 o'clock on the morning of October 7, the comet will run into the sun, and darkness will invade the earth for seventy-two hours, and the west be engulfed by an earthquake.

FIVE persons got into an old boat to cross the Miami river, near South Lebanon, Ohio, on Tuesday afternoon, and upset it "during a playful struggle for the possession of the oars." Four of the party, Newtow and Ella Wallace and Abraham and Bella Lucas, were drowned.

MRS. GENERAL MCCALL was thrown from her carriage in West Chester on Wednesday afternoon and seriously injured. Mrs. McCall attempted to hold the horse while her son visited the post office, when the animal became frightened and ran away. Her head was badly cut, and when picked up she was bleeding profusely from the wounds and from her ears.

Poetry.

FALLOW.

I like these plants that you call weeds—
Sedge, hardhack, mullein, yarrow—
That knit their roots and sift their seeds
Where any grassy wheel-track leads
Through country by-ways narrow.

They fringe the rugged hillside farms,
Grown old with cult vation,
With such wild wealth of rustic charms
As bloomed in Nature's matron arms
The first days of creation.

They show how Mother Earth loves best
To deck her tired-out places;
By flowery lips, in hours of rest,
Against hard work she will protest
With homely airs and graces.

You plow the arbutus from her hills;
Hew down her mountain-laurel:
Their place, as best she can, she fills
With humble blossoms; so she wills
To close with you her quarrel.

She yielded to your axe, with pain,
Her free, primeval glory;
She brought you crops of golden grain;
You say "How dull she grows! how plain!"—
The old, mean, selfish story!

Her wildwood soil you may subdue,
Tortured by hoe and harrow;
But leave her for a year or two,
And see! she stands and laughs at you
With hardhack, mullein, yarrow!

Dear Earth, the world is hard to please!
Yet heaven's breath gently passes
Into a life of flowers like these;
And I lie down at blessed ease
Among thy weeds and grasses.

TWENTY MINUTES LATE.

The twain at last have struck their gate—
The engine and the engineer;
"The train is twenty minutes late!"
The smutty fireman gives a cheer.
He lets her out in giant strides;
She thrusts her slender arms of steel
Deep in the caskets at her sides;
The nervous creature seems to feel
For something precious hidden there;
Plucks out great handfuls of the power
That gives her sixty miles an hour;
Turned out to pasture in the air.
With glittering elbows' ceaseless play,
She brightens night and darkens day.

"She buckles bully to the work;
She's not the kind of girl to shirk,"
The driver says and tries the gauge,
And never dreams he leads the age,
Full seventy feet at a single plunge,
And seventy feet at a single breath,
And seventy feet from instant death!
A little slower than the lunge
The lightning makes that stabs the night:
And faster than the falcon's flight,
Is seventy feet at every beat
Of heart and clock the train is hurled;
At such a rate, with such a mate,
Not eighteen days around the world.

—An anxious-to-marry young man,
Getting-dollar-a-day young man,
Who hasn't a penny—
Never learned to save any,
Depending-on-pa young man.

A dashing-and-gay young girl,
A sit-up-at-night young girl,
Whose ma does the work
Like the slave of a Turk,
An entertaining-her-beau young girl.

Our Story Teller.

The Wrong Picture.

little law office. "I have been a doubting fool quite long enough."

I'm afraid I wasn't a very amiable member of the domestic circle that afternoon

"I think Paul is growing crosser every day," said my sister, shrugging her little plump shoulders. "Mother, I wish you'd speak to him!"

But my mother, bless her wise old soul, knew better than that. She looked at me over the rims of her spectacles and went on darning stockings.

"Paul is worried about business matters, I suppose," she said apologetically. "Paul will do well enough, if you only let him alone."

I went up to my room after supper and made an elaborate toilet; but all the pains I bestowed upon it, served only to heighten the general effect of awkwardness!

"I've two minds to wait, until to-morrow night," quoth I to myself, abruptly stopping, my cravat half tied. "No—I might be a coward, but I was not such an unmitigated poltroon as that. I had begun the enterprise, and I would carry it through, if it cost me the last drop of my heart's blood!"

Moreover I had had an inspiration! An entirely new and original method of putting the momentous query—"popping the question" is a vulgarism, that I, for one, could never tolerate—had occurred to me.

"Hang Fitzhugh Trefoil!" I exclaimed gleefully, half aloud, though there was no ear to hear my ejaculation. "I'll win the dark eyed beauty yet in spite of all he can do!"

I opened my writing case and carefully took out a little carte de visite wrapped in tissue paper and carefully laid away with a pink silk perfume satchel that Minnie had made for me once. It was Cecilia's picture; she had allowed me to steal it away from her, with scarcely a remonstranee, a week before. Then was the time I ought to have proposed, but like a timorous, doubting moon-calf as I was, I had left the golden tide of opportunity slip unimproved away from me!

I drew Bessie Hermitage's vacant, doll-like face from its envelope and compared the two with a thrill of triumph in my heart.

Colorless water beside crimson, sparkling champagne; a pale violet in the shadow of a royal rose! pearls eclipsed by the fiery flash of diamonds!" I exclaimed. "Darwin Wallace's taste may be very correct and classical, but give me my radiant brunette! These bleached-out beauties do not correspond with my ideal of perfection."

It was a lovely spring night as I entered the wide graveled path that led up to the wide porch of the old fashioned Vernon mansion.

Squire Vernon sat there smoking [illegible]erschaum.

"Won't you set down and have a [illegible]ke?" he demanded hospitably, "it's a real luxury to take a whiff out o' doors, after bein' shut up in the house all winter. Or may be you'd prefer goin' in to see Cecilly."

Sensible gentlemen! he had not forgotten his young days. I intimated, not without considerable awkwardness, that the special object of my visit had been to "see Cecilly."

"Wal, she is in the parlor, all by herself," said the squire good humoredly, motioning me in. "Walk in, walk in; she'll be glad to see ye."

Cecilia Vernon was sitting in the parlor alone, as her father had said, the bright centre of a cheerful circle of lamplight. A bit of crochet work was lying in her lap, and an open volume of poems—poems I had sent her—was on the table.

Cecilia vernon was always fair to look upon, in my sight; to-night however, she seemed more than ordinarily beautiful.

I sat down and began hesitatingly upon the never-failing topic of the weather. A proposal had seemed the easiest thing in the world as I walked along the dewy edges of the peaceful starlight road, contemplating it from afar off; but now that I was face to face with it, Alps upon Alps of difficulty and perplexity seemed to surround its accomplishment. I would have given all that I was worth to postpone the evil day but twenty-four hours—all but my self respect, and that was imperiled now.

Cecilia tried her best to keep the ball of conversation in motion; she introduced new subjects, asked leading questions, and feigned deep interest in the most abstruse of politics. But even Cecilia couldn't talk on forever, and presently, with a little sigh of despair, she subsided into silence. Now was the eventful moment of my destiny.

"Cecilia!" I said softly.

She raised the liquid brown eyes to mine.

"I want to confide in you to-night—have I your permission to speak?"

"Certainly, Mr Markham!"

"I am very much in love, Cecilia; in fact my heart has long gone out of my own possession into that of—"

I stopped, with a fatal husky feeling in my throat. Cecilia was blushing divinely!" I drew my chair closer up to hers, with the sensation of a man who has just pulled the string of a cold shower-bath.

"Who is the lady?" faltered Cecilia—as if she didn't know perfectly well already.

"Shall I show you her picture. Cecilia?"

Miss Vernon inclined her head almost to the level of my shoulder, to look at the little carte de visite I drew from my pocket. I skillfully stole one arm around her waist.

"See, dearest!"

But, to my horror and dismay, she snatched her hand from my clasp, sprang up, and started away, like some fair avenging goddess!

"How dare you insult me thus, Mr. Markham?"

"Cecilia! how—what—"

"Don't presume to call me Cecilia, sir!" sobbed the indignant girl, bursting into tears and sweeping from the room.

I sat like one palsied. What had I done? Why was the gracious mood of my enchantress thus suddenly transformed to gall and bitterness? Surely she would presently return and apologize for her capricious exit!

But she did not return; and after waiting long in vain, I sneaked out of a side door and crept dejectedly home, my heart burning with wonder and resentment.

I had no mind to meet the assembled family group, so I admitted myself with the night key and stole noiselessly up stairs, where my lamp still burned—the lamp that I had lighted with such high and bounding hopes!

I threw off my coat viciously; as I did so the forgotten carte de visite dropped from my pocket. I stooped to pick it up. It was the portrait of Bessie Armitage!

And there on the mantel, where in my heedless haste I had left it, was the divine countenance of my queen Cecilia!

I had shown her the wrong photograph.

All was clear now! Her indignation and resentment—the whole tangled web of mystery was unraveled now! I caught up my hat to rush back to her, but at that moment the clock struck eleven!

It was too late now. All apology and explanation must be deferred until the morrow. And with a discontented spirit I sought my couch.

Early the next morning I walked over to the old Vernon mansion; but expeditious as I was, Trefoil had been there before me. I met him coming whistling down the walk as self-possessed as ever.

"Good morning," I said briefly, endeavoring to pass him, but he detained me.

"Congratulate me, my dear fellow. I am the happiest man in the world. Cecilia Vernon has just promised to be my wife!"

I stared blankly at him, and with one or two unintelligible murmurs, turned short aroond and walked home again. My rival had improved the propitious opportunity and caught Cecilia's heart in the rebound.

Well—so goes the world, and I am a bachelor yet. There is but one Cecilia, and she, alas! is married to Fitzhugh Trefoil!

Zylonite.

One of the most remarkable uses to which paper has been put of late years is the manufacture of zylonite, a substance which, at the will of the manufacturer, is made in imitation of horn, rubber, ivory, tortoise shell, amber and even glass. The uses of which zylonite are adaptable are almost infinite, but perhaps the most extraordinary is the manufacture of cathedral windows. The discovery was made by an Englishman named Spills, about fifteen years ago, but it was only about five years ago that a company was formed in London for its manufacture. Within the last two years a company has been formhere. The base of zylonite is a plain white tissue paper, made frem cotton or cotton and linen rags. The paper being treated first with a bath of sulphuric and other acids, undergoes a chemical change. The acid is then carefully washed out and the paper treated with another preparation of alcohol and camphor. After this it assumes an appearance very much like parchment. It is then capable of being worked up into plates of any thickness, rendered almost transparent or given any of the brilliant colors that silk will take. It is much more flexible than either horn or ivory, and much less brittle. Combs or other articles made of it in imitation of tortoise shells are said to be so perfect in appearance as to deceive the eye of the most practised workmen in that substance. The difference in the materials can be detected only by tests. A plain white tissue paper also forms the basis of celluloid, and the treatment in the early stage of preparation are somewhat similar. The chief difference, however, between celluloid and zylonite is that the former cannot be rendered transparent, and, therefore, cannot like the latter be made to imitate so many different substances.

A Great Criminal.

Among the convicts in the Texas penitentiary is John Wesley Hardin, who was formerly the most dreaded desperado in De Witt county. He is said to have killed twenty-one men. The whole community trembled before him. Nobody attempted to interfere with him. The officers of the law looked the other way when he passed. This was largely owing to the fact that two families, the Suttons and Taylors, carried on a terrible warfare, in which a large part of the population took part on one side or the other. It was a vendetta that cost many lives. But the law got Wesley Hardin into its clutches at last, most of the Taylors and Suttons were killed off, and De Witt county is to-day one of the most orderly in the state.

A young man, in Iowa, recently received a severe thrashing for interfering in a family quarrel between John Goodenough and his wife. The unsophisticated youth will probably adopt the time honored maxim and "let Goodenough alone" in the future.

A Shrewd Scheme.

John De Bois, who arrived in the city from Indianapolis, a few days ago, and engaged a room at the Grand Central Hotel, has become the hero of one of the most outlandish confidence games that has probably ever been played at the expense of any class of business men in the city since the railroad rates from Chicago were reduced. After hiring the room in question, he reviewed his image in a mirror and saw that his personal appearance would be much more imposing if he possessed a new pair of morocco-tipped, box-toed, calfskin boots. After determing that he could not procure the coveted boots without money, in a strange city among strangers, where he had no credit, he finally determined to carry out a plan which, if it proved successful, would enable him to procure the brogans free of charge. He accordingly called at Mr. Lonergan's boot and shoe establishment on Eleventh and Market streets and ordered a pair of the finest boots the house could furnish, which he directed to be finished and sent to him C. O. D. at his room at the Grand Central. After making his contract with Mr. Lonergan he visited another establishment on Olive street, near the Turf exchange, and duplicated the order, requesting, however, that the second pair of boots be sent to his room on the same day half an hour later. On the day upon which the boots were to be delivered De Bois went to his room and awaited the arrival of the man with the boots. Promptly at the hour agreed upon Mr. Lonergan, the Market street merchant, put in an appearance. De Bois tried on the boots and then complained that the one designed for his left foot was tight and needed stretching. The merchant left the right boot in the room while he went back to his establishment with the left one for the purpose of stretching it. While he was gone the Olive street merchant put in an appearance for the purpose of delivering the boots he had made. After De Bois had tried on this pair he complained that the right boot was tight and needed stretching. The Olive street merchant, who happened to be as accommodating as the Market street man, left the left boot of his pair in the room while he posted off to his store to stretch the right one. While both merchants were absent on their stretching expeditions De Bois quietly picked up the right boot which the Market street man had left in his room and the left boot which the Olive street man had left, put them on and mysteriously disappeared from the hotel. Shortly afterwards the Market street merchant and the Olive street merchant met each other in front of the door of the De Bois's vacated room. One had a right boot in his hand and the other a left, although both were evidently badly left. They were, of course, bewildered, as neither knew of the contract the other had entered into with De Bois. After they had both explained, both saw plainly through the trick and agreed to keep the joke to themselves. While De Bois sped away on some out-bound train for Indianapolis, wearing two fancy boots on his feet, made by two of the best shoemakers in the city, according to the most approved patterns, the two shoemakers slunk out of the hotel, each carrying a boot under his arm, one a right and the other a left.—St. Louis Republican.

Population of the Earth.

The population of the earth has long been a fascinating study for statisticisns Behm and Wagner, who have just published an amended edition of a former work in Germany. They give the total as 1,433,887,500—which is about 22,000,000 less than their estimate of two years ago. They have concluded that China has 50,000,000 less then they formerly supposed. There has thus been an actual increase of about 38,000,000 in the population of the globe—an increase, however, which must be spread over ten years, as many of the recent censuses are decennial. For Europe the present population is rated at 327,743,400, showing an increase of about 12,000,000 over the previous figures by the operation of the censuses. In Asia, making allowance for the readjustment of the population of China, there has been an increase of 20,000,000, the present population being set down at 795,591,000. Of course the estimates must sometimes be little better than guesses for example, for such places as Africa. For this continent Dr. Robifs maintains that an estimate of 100,000,000 is quite enough, while Behm and Wagner retain the old figures of 200,000,000 with considerable hesitation.

A Copal Forest.

The British consul at Mozambique has just reported the discovery of a considerable tract of copal forest. The forest is fully 200 miles long. It is a belt which runs parallel with the coast, and is midway between the coast and the first range of mountains. From Inhambane it is nearly 100 miles to get right into it. This distance is considerable, and may retard its being opened up, but its discovery adds to the known wealth of the district. "The native name of this gum," says the consul, "is 'Stakate' and 'Staka.' The Zulu name for gum is 'Inthlaka.' The name 'Stacte' mentioned in Exodus xxx, 34 (this is believed to be the gum of the Storna tree Styrax officinal), would be pronounced as the above native name. The tree domineers over all, and, standing in any place overlooking the forest, you see here and there trees growing as it were a hay field. The gum has a beautiful odor if pounded and burned, also if boiled in a pot of water." The ordinary gum copal tree of the main land of Zanzibar and Mozambique, though as a rule lofty, is by no means of the striking character here indicated.

A Stingy Landlord.

"Well, yes," said the Colonel, gazing meditatively in the fire, "take him all in all, Dick Crawford was about the cleverest fellow I ever knew. Forty years ago, when Dick and I were young fellows, practicing law on this side of the mountains, things had a different look altogether than they bear now a-days. The men rode, hunted, fought and made love harder than they seem to do now, and there was more fire and energy about them.

We used to ride forty or fifty miles to attend court, and after business was over meet in one of the old taverns for a jovial supper. The only tavern at Greenbrier Court House, in those days, was kept by a man named Gill, a palavering knave, as stingy as the dickins. He had a monopoly, and so he used to scrimp his meals. The food was generally good but never enough of it. He knew this was the only tavern for miles. Dick Crawford was a big, strong fellow who liked his three square meals a day, and many a time he swore he'd get even with old Gill for half starving him. One day a large crowd was assembled at Greenbrier Court. There was a murder trial going on, and the whole county turned out in consequence.

At dinner time we all went across the green to the tavern, and, as usual, found old Gill presiding with a smiling countenance over a table with very little on it save the dishes. Crawford surveyed the festive board with fire-flashing eye. "Ask a blessing, Crawford," called out one of the young men at the far end of the table. Quick as thought Crawford glanced around to see that everybody was attending, then bent his head, folded his hands and said, in a loud, distinct voice:

"Oh, Thou, who gave the loaves and fishes,
Look down upon these empty dishes;
May'st Thou these empty dishes fill,
Bless all of us, and dash old Gill."

The roar of laughter that followed shook the house, and Gill's face was a study.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Blind for Nine Hours.

George Blackburn, a man employed by James Burnett, commissioner of Montgomery county, at Spring Mill, met with an experience last Saturday which caused him no little mental anguish for a brief period, and is a mystery that has as yet not been explained. Mr. Blackburn ate his dinner at the usual hour and returned to his work enjoying his customary good health. About three o'clock, while carrying a sack of wheat into Mr. Burnett's mill, his one eye suddenly closed. Being unable to open the lids, he procured some water and commenced to bathe the optic. While thus engaged the lid of the other eye closed and refused to be opened. The man was now as blind as a statue. He made his misfortune known, and was conducted to Mr. Burnett's house and placed in bed. Dr. Weaver, of Conshohocken, was summoned, and after making a careful examination of the case, left a liquid wash with which to bathe his eyes. The physician's instructions were obeyed, and about ten o'clock the afflicted man fell asleep. At midnight he awoke and opened his eyes without the slighest difficulty. He was at once able to see all that was going on about him, and the only mark left by the temporary blindness was a heaviness of the eyelids, such as frequently accompanies a severe cold.

Perpetual Motion.

In September last a new perpetual clock was put up at the Gare du Nord, Brussels, in such a position as to be fully exposed to the influence of the wind and weather; and although it has not since been touched, it has continued to keep good time ever since. The weight is kept constantly wound up by a fan placed in a chimney. As soon as it approaches the extreme height of its course, it actuates a break, which stops the fan, and the greater the tendency of the fan to revolve, so much the more strongly does the brake act to prevent it. A simple pawl arrangement prevents the down draught from exerting any effect. There is no necessity for a fire, as the natural draught of the chimney or pipe is sufficient; and if the clock is placed out of doors all that is required is to place it above a pipe, sixteen or twenty feet high. The clock is made to work for twenty-four hours after being wound up, so as to provide for any temporary stoppage; but by the addition of a wheel or two it may be made to go for eight days after cessation of winding. The inventor, M. Augusta Dardenne, a native of Belgium, showed his original model at the Paris exhibition of 1878; but has since considerably improved upon it.

Women do not possess logical minds, and, being very imaginative, are, therefore, not fitted for debate. So Emerson says; but we say that when it comes to a debate as to whether it is necessary or proper for a man to go down town after supper, a woman can give the most logical man a half mile start, and not only beat him with her imagination, but fix it so that he won't leave the house till after breakfast the next morning

A Pig Transformed.

An Englishman, Mr. Gilbert by name, has just written a monograph on the pig which will do much toward restoring that animal to his proper place in society. If Mr. Gilbert is to be believed the pig has been treated with shocking injustice. We have made him dirty and loathsome, and we then abuse him because he is what we have made him. Everybody has noticed the difference between new and old pigs. The former are white, clean and decidedly pretty, while the latter are no less objectionable. Ought we not to ask ourselves if we are in any way responsible for the transformation of the delicate new pig into the revolting middle-aged pig? To this question, Mr. Gilbert has an answer ready, and that answer is far from flattering to us.

In point of pig Mr. Gilbert is an undoubted pelagian. He holds that the pig at birth is physically and morally pure, and that the faults and mud which he afterwards exhibits are due to the circumstances in which he is placed. These circumstances are to the last degree demoralizing. Men assume that mud is essential to the comfort of the pig, and so take pains to provide him with mud-puddles. They have the extraordinary theory that the pig thrives only upon filthy food, and so they feed him with refuse with which they would scorn to insult any other animal. They are confident that the dirtier the pig pen may be the happier the pig will become, and they bend their energies to building and furnishing pig-pens which shall be dirtier than the steerage of an old-fashioned emigrant ship. We need not wonder that the unhappy pig yields to the force of circumstances and becomes the loathsome beast that he undoubtedly is.

Mr. Gilbert, as the apologist and defender of pigs, asserts that we ought to adopt an entirely new system of pig culture. He would have the pig-pen built after a design so truely artistic that the daily contemplation of it could not but refine and elevate the pig's taste. The interior of this pig-pen should, according to Mr. Gilbert, be kept as scrupulously clean as the spare bedroom of a New England cottage. The pig should have a clean and comfortable bed—say a spring mattress—and his table dishes should be washed after every meal. While wallowing in every form should be discountenanced, the pig should have a daily bath, and great care should be taken to protect him from insects. Finally, the pig's food should be of the daintiest description and as the result of this treatment he would never lose the neatness and grace which characterize him during his early pighood.

Having thus transformed the pig by changing his surroundings, Mr. Gilbert would make him a familiar friend of man That the pig has a good deal of intellect there can be no question, for there have been educated pigs who have shown an ability to work out mathematical problems and to play abstruse games of cards which has challenged the admiration of mankind. Mr. Gilbert maintains that the pig is an affectionate and faithful animal, and as soon as he is taken by the foot and assisted to abandon the bad habits which have hitherto been his reproach, he can be made to take the place in the house now occupied by the dog and the cat. With prophetic and enthusiastic eye, Mr. Gilbert sees the reformed pig of the future sitting up on end on the hearthway, and licking his bristles with the assiduity of the daintiest cat. He sees the same animal lying in the lap of beauty, and accepting caresses with a far greater show of appreciation than is ever made by the pampered lap-dog. To the scientific person the domesticated pig will be of great service in doing mathematical sums, and to the sportsman he will be invaluable. The full grown pig is larger and stronger than the fiercest dog, and as he has four times as much surface of nose as has the ablest hound, he would probably prove to be keen of scent as well as bold and vigorous in attack. Thus he would fully take the place of every variety of dog, and if he can be taught to kill mice, which is by no means improbable, he would leave no sphere of usefulness for the cat.

As for his voice, we may feel certain that it would be improved by cultivation. Just as he wallows in the mire, not from any love of mud, but in order to rid himself of annoying insects, so he sings in his coarse and unmusical voice, not because he is devoid of musical taste, but because bad food and damp pens have injured his throat. Mr. Gilbert's system of treatment would, it is expected, convert the grunt that now offends our ears, into a soft musical purr, rather louder than the purr of a cat, but much rounder and softer in timbre. Thus the very last ground for finding fault with the pig as an inmate of the drawing-room and a companion of men and women would vanish, and we should become so fond of the dear beast that we should never dream of eating him, thus arriving though by an entirely different path to that total abstinence from swine's flesh which Moses commanded, and which must forever assure to that great law giver the respect and gratitude of men of civilized tastes.—*N. Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use,

Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Riots in Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 28.—The Egyptian government has possession of a telegram from Prince Ibrahim to Arabi Pasha congratulating him on his supposed Egyptian victory at Kassassin and hoping that at the next feast of Baeram Englishmen would be sacrificed instead of sheep.

CAIRO, Sept. 28.—There have been riots in several towns in upper Egypt owing to the efforts of officials to enforce demonstrations of loyalty to the khedive. Flags and devices have been torn down by mobs and Christians have been insulted and maltreated.

4.35 p. m.—An ammunition train has exploded near the Cairo railroad depot. The explosions still continue. Arabs and Europeans are fleeing from the scene. Thirty persons are reported killed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—Lord Dufferin has communicated to Lord Granville a note from the porte, thanking Great Britain for re-establishing order in Egypt and expressing the hope that the bonds of friendship existing between Turkey and England will be drawn still closer. Granville has replied expressing satisfaction at the Ottoman government.

Five battalions of troops have been dispatched to Hedjaz, Arabi, where an outbreak is reported. It is probably connected with the deposition of the grand cheriff of Mecca.

CAIRO, Sept. 28.—Contrary to rumors, General Wolseley will not l ave here for a fortnight, nor until the urgent questions awaiting his solution in connection with court martials, the withdrawal of a portion of the British troops, and re-organization of the Egyptian army are settled.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 28.—It it stated that two companies of the Forty-ninth regiment have been suddenly ordered to Tantah.

Politics in South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 28.—A special from Lancaster, S. C., says: A political meeting was held here yesterday and addressed by Colonel Cash. Near the close of the meeting a difficulty arose at the stand between a white man and a colored man, which resulted in the former being wounded in the head by a blow from a stick or stone. At this juncture two or three pistol shot were fired near the stand, but no one was hurt. Soon after a large procession of colored men on horse back came upon the streets, one of the number having a large pistol buckled to his body. A negro drew a pistol, pointed it at a white man and said: "There's the rascal who did the shooting." The white man gave him the lie, and the colored man fired at him. Immediately several shots were fired by the white men and a colored man fell dead. Indiscriminate shooting followed by the whites and blacks, and three other colored men were killed and many wounded. The authorities soon succeeded in restoring quiet, which now prevails. It is believed that the trouble is over.

Served Him Right.

CHICAGO, September 27.—Mr. W. Dyniemiecz, editor of the Polish newspaper here, surrendered himself to the authorities this morning, saying he had just killed a man. His story is that after rising he went out into the front yard and was there attacked by a tramp with a club, and that the tramp followed him into the house and struck his wife and daughter, whereupon in self-defence he got a revolver and shot the tramp in the breast, instantly killing him.

A Church Demolished.

NEWTON, Ks., September 21.—Last evening a cyclone passed through the southern part of this city. It demolished the Evangelical church during a service, but none of the audience was seriously injured. No other damage was done. The church was a frame building and had been poorly constructed.

Bursting Bombs.

CAIRO, Sept. 29.—Further details of the explosion say the train from Benha had arrived with the Sixtieth Rifles, when the ammunition wagon in the station exploded, killing the doctor in the train with the invalids and some men, the number of whom is unknown. The train ignited and the fire spread to the railroad depot, which was quickly burned. The flames next reached the commissioner's depot adjoining, and thence extended to some of our magazines, which exploded. It was found impossible to prevent the reserve ammunition from being destroyed. The train with the Sixtieth Rifles arrived just as another was starting from Alexandria with trucks containing ammunition. The shells on one truck exploded, scattering shells all over the station and into the Benha train, in which were the invalid soldiers. It is feared some soldiers and natives were buried under the debris. The duke of Connaught and the duke of Teck, with staffs, are on the spot. Engines are going forward but the fire spread so rapidly that it is hopeless to expect anything of consequence to be saved. A truck with three hundred rounds of ammunition has not yet exploded, rendering approach perilous. The whole of the commisarat stores, main ordnance stores, the grater part of the forage and a large quantity of clothing were destroyed. Loss, £100,000,

Another dispatch says that three of the Rifles were killed and six wounded by the explosion. Some of the Irish service corps were wounded and several natives killed. A number of inhabitants rushed about, carrying children, money and other portable articles, under the impression that Cairo had been surprised by a new enemy. It is supposed that the explosion was caused by sparks from an approaching train. A major of marines and a private were wounded and an Arab killed. There may be many more victims, but these are all yet seen.

The Recent Floods.

PHILADELPHIA, September 28.—About 4.30 this morning the dwelling house No. 923 Wallace street, fell, burying the inmates, seven men and one woman, in the ruins. All were promptly rescued alive except the woman, Mrs. Roach, whose voice could be heard, however, under the ruins. The police and firemen worked hard to reach her and she was released, uninjured, after being for three hours in the debris. Three of the men are quite seriously injured. The building was undermined by the recent rains.

Since Mrs. Roach was taken from the ruins she has been seized with spasms, and it is feared that her injuries, which appeared slight, are fatal. In her fall, the bed in which she was lying turned completely over, and when she reached the cellar the bed clothes were under her and the mattress on top, thus shielding her from the avalanche of brick and timber that followed. Henry Roach, a boy, was precipitated from the third story to the cellar and was severely injured. Others of the boarders have broken limbs, and are otherwise seriously hurt.

Y. M. C. A. Men in Council.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 28.—The annual convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Pennsylvania assembled here this afternoon and will continue over Sunday. President James McCormick, of Harrisburg, called the meeting to order. After devotional exercises committees on organization and business were appointed. The following permanent officers were elected: President, T. B. Patton, Altoona; vice presidents, J. W. Gephart, Bellefonte, and C. P. Helfenstein, Shamokin; secretary, F. A. Hatch, Erie. A number of reports were received and other business transacted. A large welcome meetipg was held in the Pine Street church this evening at which an address of welcome was delivered by Rev. S. E. Webster, of the First Presbyterian church. The president and other officers of the convention responded. Nearly two hundred delegates are present.

In a Bad Condition.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 28.—The Gazette to-morrow will print a statement made to night by William H Pope, one of the officers of the Excelsior Castle Knights of the Golden Rule, at a meeting called by Pope in which he says there is now due members of the third class of that order $62,000 and that there is not a dollar on hand to pay it. This class comprises the oldest members of the order.

Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, September 28.—John H. Parke, one of the almshouse contractors, was arrested to-night on a warrant issued September 23 on the oath of John Hazzard, charging him with conspiracy to cheat and defraud the city of Philadelphia. Parke is now at the central station and refuses to say anything. Ex-Superintendent Phipps' counsel had an interview with Parke to-night.

The Lion and the Lamb.

NEW YORK, September 28.—The addition of the names of John Kelly, and Augustus Scheli, of Tammany Hall, and Col. C. M. Murphy, of Irving Hall, completes the representation of New York city on the New York democratic state committee.

Passed Examination.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 28.—W. H. G. Bollard and F. W. Jenkins, of Pennsylvania, were among the candidates for naval cadets who passed examination to-day.

A Steamboat Horror.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 30.—The steamer Robert E. Lee was destroyed by fire thirty-five miles below Vicksburg early this morning. So far as can be learned twenty-one persons were lost. The persons known to have perished are as follows:

Cabin passengers—Mr. Pointer, of Maysville, Ky.; Mr. McClellan, of New Orleans; Miss Adams, music teacher, on her way to Baton Rouge; an infant of Mrs. Searle, of Vicksburg, and two colored women.

Steamer hands—Frank Jones, fireman; Ophelia Jones and Martha Webb, second and third chambermaids; Thomas Fisher, Joe Murrell, Scott Cox, Thomas Collins and Irvin Duncan, cabin boys; Samuel Brown, roustabout; James Kardo, carpenter; William Wesmaker, second engineer; two cooks and two assistants.

The following persons were saved: Thos. J. Spain, of Tensas. La.; C. H. Chapman, of the steamer Naomi; G. O'Rourke, of New Orleans; J. M. Farnum, of St. Louis; Mrs. Abrahams of Chicago; Henry Mason, of Monroe, La; J. C. Slott, of New York; H. W. Neefus, of New York; J. M. Freedman, of Vicksburg; J. B. Berger, of Easton, Pa.; W. W. Irish, of Carlisle, Ill.; John H. Ludwigson, of New Orleans; Mrs. Searle, of Vicksburg, and a lady with eight children, name unknown.

Ovice Bell, second clerk of the steamer, who was up at the time of the accident, says: "I never saw anything burn so quickly. I was aft at the time, and when I heard the alarm, knowing that my partner, who sleeps soundly, and other officers were in great danger, I rushed up to awaken them. The fire followed me so fast that by the time I had them all up my partner had his hair singed in getting down stairs from the hurricane roof and I was forced to climb over the rail. I thought I was gone at one time. The boat did not have much cotton on board. She had just been freshly painted and she went just like gunpowder."

Fighting for Rights.

OMAHA, Nebraska, September 29.—At the meeting of the National Woman's Suffrage association resolutions were adopted thanking congress for the appointment of a woman suffrage committee in each house; thanking Senators Lapham, Ferry, Blair and Anthony for their report in favor of an impartial suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United states; that it is the paramount duty of congress to submit a sixteenth amendment, which shall secure the enfranchisement of woman; that the association should labor for the submission of an amendment to the national constitution prohibiting the states from disfranchising on the ground of sex; that the action of the state conventions of the republicans in Kansas and Indiana; of the democrats in Massachusetts, the anti-monopolists of New York, and the prohibitionists in Chicago indicate a recognition of the strength of our cause and the near approach of a full recognition of women's political rights; that it is the duty of the legislatures of Iowa, Oregon and Indiana to ratify the proposed woman-suffrage amendments, and that the enlargement of woman's political freedom in Ireland, Scotland, India and Russia is encouraging, while the refusal of their privileges is more inconsistent in our republic.

The Hillsdale Crew.

PHILADELPHIA, October 1.—Among the passengers on the steam ship Indiana, which arrived here this afternoon from Liverpool, were the four members of the Hillsdale rowing club who competed last month on the Thames with a crew of the Thames rowing club. They were met at the wharf by a committee of the Schuylkill navy and escorted to the Collonade hotel. The committee tendered them a banquet on behalf of the Schuylkill navy on Tuesday evening next, but the Hillsdale oarsmen were compelled to decline on account of private engagements at home. They will leave for the west on the midnight train. The Hillsdale men are all in good health, and Captain Terwillinger states that while he regretted the misfortunes surrounding their English visit he was well satisfied that the masses in England were disposed to fair play and to show them every consideration.

Daring Train Robbery.

GRANADA, Col., October 1.—Last night while the west bound train was standing on the side track to let the east bound passenger train pass two men mounted the engine with revolvers and made the engineer run the train one mile out of town, where fifteen armed men took possession of the train. The only shots fired were at Conductor Dees, who had gone forward to learn the cause of the stoppage of the train. He ran back into the smoking car, where a sheriff and deputy sheriff from Ruton, and a sheriff from Las Vagas were. The sheriffs drew their revolvers, thereby saving the passengers from losing their valuables. The robbers then stole $5.500 in money from the express car and told the engineer to pull out. They got off the train, mounted their horses and departed. A safe in the express car containing $10,000 was not touched. A posse of citizens is in pursuit of the robbers.

M. B. Roberts' Horse Powders will prevent diseases in horses. Every farmer should obtain a package, and see for themselves how quick it will improve their horses. For sale everywhere.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

—Mortimer F. Elliott, the Democratic candidate for Congressman-at-Large, was on the 10 a. m. train Monday morning of last week, and, according to the custom in Bellefonte, a large number of the supporters of the party went through the pouring rain to the train to meet him. He issued from the car under the escort of W. C. Heinle, Esq., who introduced him very briefly, as he desired to give the distinguished gentleman an opportunity to make as long a speech as the time would permit. Mr. Elliott's salutation was exceedingly frigid and he merely informed his auditors in a formal manner that the Democratic party would triumph at the coming election, and with an imperious bow he retired. He was faintly cheered. We sympathize with the would be Congressman-at-Large; he evidently is not well versed in the geography of the State and did not know the importance of the town nor the expectations of the audience which he addressed. Perhaps he labored under the impression that this is some backwoods hamlet or an outlandish country village. At best, he missed a brilliant opportunity, and neither in appearance nor in the excellence of his address did he favorably impress those who saw him for the first time.

The Clearfield and Susquehanna.

The Philipsburg Journal, in alluding to the new Beech Creek railroad, gives its readers the following information:

We are informed that one of our representative citizens interviewed a heavy stockholder of the proposed Clearfield and Susquehanna railroad, which route is heading this way, a few days ago, and learned that the company have all the money necessary to construct said road, and that it will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The gentleman interviewed is the moving spirit in the enterprise, is largely interested in coal lands and the general welfare of this section, and knows whereof he speaks. Even before we expect it, the iron horse will be coming into this region in another direction from the present route and will be the means of properly developing one of the largest and best coal fields in the country, and Philipsburg will soon enjoy such a boom as has never been experienced in the history of this section.

Changes of Garment.

A word to the wise in regard to the changes in wearing apparel which the present season brings about will be deemed sufficient.

Blessed is the man who has a handsome fall overcoat. But this garment should never be put on until the wearer is also prepared to lay aside his straw hat. Rather continue to wear all of your summer clothes than to combine the seasons in this manner.

All, except clergymen, should, at the time they put on a fall overcoat, also change white cravats for those of a dark or warm shade, and their low shoes for those that do not display such a breadth of white stocking.

Persons with a small purse can really be dressed better than those with elaborate means if they exercise taste in doing so.

The Lutheran Synod.

The Central Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran church, embracing the counties of Centre, Clinton, Mifflin and parts of Snyder, Juniata and Perry, convened in Lewistown on Wednesday evening at half past seven o'clock. The opening sermon was preached by the President, Rev. W. E. Fischer, of Centre Hall. The Synod will remain in session over the Sabbath.

There are thirty-seven ministers in the Synod and each charge is represented by one lay delegate, making 74 representatives at the meeting. These, with the visiting ministers and delegates of other Synods, will make a body of about 100 men. A good time is anticipated and extensive preparations have been made by the people of Lewistown.

A Shooting Accident.

Charles Boas, a young man about 14 or 15 years of age, living near the nail works, met with an unfortunate accident about 11 o'clock Monday forenoon while handling a revover. The instrument was accidently discharged, the ball crushing through the first finger of his left hand. He came to town and his finger received the attention of a surgeon.

—The Altoona Tribune says there is a Jonah in the Republicanism of Centre county. Shall we throw him overboard? But, confound it! the whale that swallows him will have to follow the example of the one that could retain Jonah only a short time.

—It is said that the husks cling remarkably tight to the corn, which, according to rule, indicates a severe winter.

Fire in the M. E. Church.

During last week workmen were at work in the Methodist church oiling the seats and making other improvements incident to the fall "church cleaning." Rags moistened with turpentine and other fluids were used in the process and on Wednesday when they were through work the men threw the rags on the floor, with no idea that they would ignite. After the usual prayer meeting service, which was held in the lecture room, two little girls told Mr. Green, the sexton, that they would like to see how the church looked in its present very disorderly condition. Mr. Green accordingly lighted the taper which he uses when lighting the gas and gave it to them. As soon as they had reached the church they discovered that it was filled with smoke, and immediately notified Mr. Green. He went to the rescue armed with a bucket of water and soon extinguished the flames. A large hole at least a foot in diameter was burned in the back of one of the pews on the Howard street side of the church, and but for the fact that the little girls took the notion to look at the church at the time, they did that beautiful edifice might have been burned to the ground, as Mr. Green was just ready to lock up the building and go home. That might be called a special providence.

Cinders in the Eye.

An exchange says: Persons traveling by railway are subject to continued annoyance from the flying cinders. On getting into the eyes they are not only painful for a moment, but are often the cause of long suffering and expense that ends in a total loss of sight. A very simple and effective cure is within the reach of every one, and would prevent much suffering and expense were it generally known. It is simply one or two grains of flax seed. These may be placed in the eye without injury or pain to that delicate organ, and shortly they begin to swell and dissolve a glutinous substance that may be in it. The irritation of cutting the membrane is thus prevented and the annoyance may soon be washed out. A dozen of these stowed away in the vest pocket may prove in an emergency worth their number in gold.

—A peculiarity marked as though by providence is that Pennsylvania's natal year began on Sunday and it will end on a Sunday—a sacred hebdomadal a year long—turning the mind constantly to William Penn's immortal principles, of right, justice and absolute civil and religious liberty. What more appropriate then than to inaugurate our programme on Sunday, October 22d, with religious services in every church in Pennsylvania to begin our feast with devout grace to God for His mercy and goodness. The suggestion has been made and it is an excellent one, that every clergyman should write out the sermon he intends to deliver on that Sunday and send it to some designated institution for preservation. Will Bellefonte clergymen do this?

—If you hear people praising Harry Teats & Co.'s grocery store very enthusiastically you have no occasion to be surprised for it merits all that can be said in its favor.

—On Thursday Mr. H. H. Benner, of this place, displayed to our vision a peach which measured 9 inches in circumference one way and 9½ inches the other, and tipped the scale at 8 ounces. The flavor was delicious A half-bushel of the same kind grew on a tree which now stands in the yard back of the Benner mansion on High street. What nice fat peach dumplings they would make!

—The large rush of people to Teats & Co.'s store is accounted for by the fact that there is always a fresh stock of goods at that establishment which people are always eager to purchase.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Richards, of this place, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding, on Sunday, September 24. The celebration was very informal, but none the less enjoyable. They were the recipients of numerous useful and beautiful presents.

Powers & Son's Store.

It is evident that Messrs. Powers & Son anticipated that the fall and winter season will be unusually prosperous, as they have just purchased an immense stock of boots and shoes which fills their large store room from end to end. Those who have ever purchased of them know that they keep nothing but the choicest goods to be found in the market, and they will be glad to know that the proprietors have provided so generously for them. There are boots so symmetrical and perfect in shape that even the beautiful boot with which Thaddeus of Warsaw awoke the envy of London gentlemen would be nothing in comparison. Ladies' shoes made to fit the most perfect feet in Centre county, and no young lady in the county should be satisfied to be without one. Such wearing apparel for the feet will make the most awkward person walk in a graceful, easy manner. Call and inspect these matchless goods even if you do not wish to purchase.

In this connection we also desire to notice that the proprietor has purchased at private sale a very choice collection of goods of excellent quality, which he will sell unusually cheap. There is doubtless in this stock something calculated for your especial benefit and will find a rare bargain.

—Visit the grocery store of Harry Teats & Co. when you visit Bellefonte. It will abundantly repay you for all your trouble.

Fall.

Here is a boy's composition on fall: This is fall, because it falls on this season of the year. Leaves fall, too, as well as thermometers and the price of straw hats. Old topers, who sign the pledge in summer, are liable to fall when the fall cider making opens, for straws show which way the cider goes. Husking corn is one of the pleasures of fall, but pleasure isn't good for little boys, I don't think. Old men want a little fun; let them husk. A husky old man can get through a good deal of corn sometimes. Digging taters is another of our fall amusements. The way I like to dig taters is to wait till they are baked nicely, and then dig them out of their skins. Most winter schools open in the fall. The best winter school I went to didn't open until spring, and the first day it opened the teacher took sick, and the school closed for the season. Once in a while we have a very severe fall, but nothing like the fall of Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden. Summer is misnamed. It should be called pride, for doesn't pride go before a fall?

—It is the custom in hotels to fold napkins while they are wet and bring them to the table in that condition. Sometimes also they are starched as stiff as a board, which renders them disagreeable to use. It is the height of vulgarity to bring napkins to the table either damp or highly starched. They should be perfectly dry, very clean and folded so that they can be easily shaken out and used and refolded again. But the question of napkins is by no means of such vast importance as that of what kinds of food to put on the table. Appetites differ and a great variety must be provided for a single family, that each member of it may have what he or she likes best. But if the groceries used in cooking are purchased at the store of Sechler & Co. almost any dish will be found delicious, and many compositions which were thought to be unpalatable when first eaten will be considered very toothsome and pleasant to the taste. Sugars, coffees, teas, spices, fruit, canned goods, flour, produce, &c., are all found at Sechler's, in superior quality and exhaustless quantity.

—A clever imitation of the trade dollar is in circulation, which it would be well for our readers to watch for The composition is iron neatly washed or plated with silver, and can easily be detected if examined closely.

—Shoemakers and farmers wishing to buy their fall and winter stock of sole leather, calf and kip skins, linings, lasts, pegs, and all kinds of shoe findings, call on Graham & Son. You will find the best and cheapest leather in town.

—The fall pasture this season is far better than in July last year, and the cattle on a thousand hills are enjoying themselves just as if it was midsummer.

BEAUTY.—"It is claimed that New York women look younger at 50 than Boston women do at 40, or Chicago women at 30," for the reason that they have been taking Peruna for the past three months, but Boston and Chicago women are coming up in fine style—entering upon the home-stretch on Manalin. I got one of your books on the "Ills of Life" from your druggist as a present, and, as it directs, have been taking Peruna and Manalin. My bowels are in excellent condition, and the lungs and heart are improving finely. J. M WALKER,

Curtin for Congress.

Ex-Governor Curtin was made the nominee for Congress by the Congressional conferees of this district who assembled at Tyrone on Wednesday. Lightning struck in the right place again.

An organization was effected by selecting R. B. Bridgens, of Lock Haven, as chairman, and G. W. Foote, of Mifflin, as secretary. The following conferees were present:

Centre county—Robert McKnight, T. J. Dunkle, Charles Smith.

Clinton county—R. B. Bridgens, John Q. Welsh, Marshall Everhart.

Clearfield county—John Gillilland, Frank Bolger, Ed. A. Bigler.

Elk county—Frank Hall, Andrew Kaul, L. W. Gifford.

Mifflin county—S. A. Swartz, R. H. Lee, S. C. Dysart.

Union county—S. C. Smith (two votes), G. W. Foote.

John Gillilland, of Clearfield county, nominated Andrew G. Curtin; J. C. Dysart nominated Andrew Reed; J. C. Smith, of Union county, nominated A. H. Dill; Andrew Kaul, of Elk, nominated J. H. P. Hall. On motion the nominations were closed, and the convention proceeded to ballot, with the following result:

1st ballot–Curtin, 9; Reed 3; Dill, 3; Hall, 3. The next eighteen ballots stood, Curtin 9, Reed 9, and on the twentieth ballot J. A. Swartz, of Mifflin county, changed from Reed to Curtin, giving Curtin 10; Reed 8. On motion of J. C. Smith, of Union, the nomination was made unanimous and a committee was appointed to notify Mr. Curtin, who on being introduced made a speech which elicited great applause.

—It shows the fascination which Arctic travel has for its votaries that Engineer Melville said he would be willing to take command of another expedition to the North pole, provided he can have full command of a ship built, manned and equipped to suit him. He believes that the course to the pole is by the Franz Josef land route. Another plan recently proposed to reach the pole is through an underground tunnel to be built by all nations, which, during its construction, shall refrain from wars, using the money usually spent on war toward the construction of the tunnel. We believe that if the nations were to unite on this plan, promising not to engage in war until it was completed, there would never be another war. But why strive to reach the North pole when it is so easy to visit the grocery store of Sechler & Co.? It will give more satisfaction to visit the grocery store, because in it can be found the very best stock of groceries ever brought to Bellefonte. Everything is pure and fresh. Sechler has a large trade, and by conducting his business on the strictest principles of right he will hold what he has already secured and steadily gain in the extent of his patronage.

—The Centre Democrat, with its usual regard for truth, feels called upon to say that William Shortlidge is a member of the staff of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN. This is utterly false. The editorial work on the REPUBLICAN and DAILY NEWS is solely the product of the brains or lack of brains of persons who are directly connected with the office in which they are published, who are well-known to be in the employment of the proprietor of those two newspapers and who devote their time to nothing else. William Shortlidge and other persons who are sometimes said to be connected with it have nothing whatever to do with it, and we wish this to be distinctly understood. So if you have anything to praise or condemn in either of the newspapers above mentioned you know where the praise or condemnation belongs.

—The care and attention which Harry Teats & Co. give to their business render their store an admirable place to purchase groceries.

Wedded Among Strangers.

The following is from the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin of Sept. 28: "In the parlor of the City Hotel, last evening at 9 o'clock, Rev. S. E. Webster, pastor of the first Presbyterian church, performed the marriage ceremony which united Mr. James Richard Lutz, of Zion, Centre county, Pa., and Miss Ella E. Housel, of Bellefonte, as husband and wife."

—All Americans like good meat and the best of all kinds is offered for sale at Sechler's meat market.

—Those people who want to know why printers call the boy "the devil" can readily bring themselves to understand it by employing a boy for a few days.

—Graham & Son are manufacturing to order the best boots and gaiters in town, without any exceptions, made from the best French calf, and made by the best workmen in the State. Give them your order for a pair.

Special inducements for orders for fall and winter clothing during the summer months.

27tf MONTGOMERY & Co.

—House cleaning and putting up stoves seriously interfere with home comforts just now.

Invalid wives and mothers quickly restored to health by using Brown's Iron Bitters. A true tonic.

—A job lot of odd coats and vests at Valentines' store. Any one needing a working coat and vest for the coming winter can buy good garments from this lot at less cost than poor garments of cheap goods can be sold.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF VALENTINES & Co.—This establishment is now offering a line of beautiful black silks which are especially recommended for their wearing qualities. It will be but little trouble for any one wanting a silk dress to inspect these goods and it is certainly a pleasure to exhibit them whether the customers purchase or not.

There is also a line of suiting flannels. These goods give better satisfaction and greater value for the money than anything else in the line of dress goods. The cost of weaving is much less than in goods woven with figures.

The stock is full in all lines of staple goods, ginghams, muslins, prints, Canton flannels, wove flannels, etc., which all should examine.

In men's, boys' and youths' clothing we have an elegant assortment of Rochester, Philadelphia and New York makes, than which there are no better in the country.

As fine an assortment of underwear for the coming season as any one would care to look at is now in stock.

Further announcements in to-morrow's issue. VALENTINES & Co.

Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water and, as its name indicates, is a perfect Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately free the head from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which sulphur, sugar of lead, and nitrate of silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggists for it. Each bottle is warranted. Smith, Kline & Co., Wholesale Agents, Philadelphia, and C. N. Crittenton, New York. 14 24 1y

A Word to the Public!

Long and anxiously has everybody been looking for a change in business and better times in general, and at last there is evidence that we have come to the time when everything brightens up again. Factories of various kinds, which have been idle, have resumed work, and are working in full blast; laborers can find steady employment and farmers are realizing better prices for their produce. But there is one very important point which remains to be considered, and that is where you can do the best in buying your clothing, boots and shoes, as all the papers you get hold of nowadays are full of advertisements, and one merchant seems to hold forth better inducements than the other. It is hard work to find which is the cheapest. But you can solve this question very easily by calling at the Boston Clothing House, just opened in Reynolds' Block, opposite Brockerhoff House, Allegheny St., Bellefonte, Pa.

Valuable Farm

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers at private sale a farm situate in College township, Centre county, Pa., adjoining the village of Oak Hall, ten miles southwest of Bellefonte, and four miles east of State College, containing 166 acres of good lime stone land, all under cultivation, except 14 acres of good young timber. The improvements are a good two-story stone mansion house, bank barn and all necessary outbuildings. Also, a good orchard, springs and streams of running water, all convenient for stock. A good spring house convenient. The best of meadows for timothy and corn that can not be surpassed in the county, makes it a very desirable stock farm. The best of

Pipe Iron Ore

has been tested and partly developed on said property adjoining land of Dr. E. Hale, who owns the celebrated Pipe Ore Mines worked by Stover a few years ago.

The farm is pleasantly located, possessing the advantage of village and country, convenient to churches, schools, mills, factory and shops, all on a good turnpike road.

The property will commend itself to any one who is looking for a comfortable home, healthy situation in Penns Valley, Tussey mountain on the south, one and one-half mile, and end of Nittany mountain, one mile north, commanding in all fine mountain scenery.

This farm is so located that it could be divided in two parts if desired by purchasers Say one with buildings of 116 acres, and the other part, 50 acres more or less, suitable for a two-horse farm.

Also a house and lot, containing over one acre, is offered for sale in said village. For terms and particulars call upon or address

THE LATEST NEWS.

Accidents at the Exposition.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 25.—Shortly after 9 o'clock to-night the west gallery of the exposition building gave way and a number of persons, together with a piano and two organs, were precipitated to the floor, a distance of thirty feet. Seven persons were injured. Their names were as follows: C. H. Taylor, of Wheeling, back hurt and face cut; Barbara Shaw, of Allegheny City, both arms broken and head severely gashed—both will probably die; Menie Shaw, a sister, back sprained and face and head contused; Nicholas Frick, of Pittsburg, nose broken and head cut; Charles W. Atchison, of Pittsburg, one arm broken and wrist sprained; John Milly, side hurt; Bertha Miller, of Allegheny City, injured about her face, head and body.

One organ was demolished and the other instrument badly damaged.

About the same time another accident occurred outside of the building by which two persons were seriously hurt. A crowd had gathered to see a display of fireworks and about thirty persons were standing on a temporary shed when it fell and the crowd was thrown to the ground. Mrs. Crawford, of Connelsville, Pa., was seriously hurt. Her head was cut, her back sprained and she was otherwise injured. Her husband was also injured pretty badly about the head and face.

The attendance at the exposition was the largest of the season, fully 20,000 people being present during the evening. The accident caused great excitemect but no panic occurred.

Gould's Railroads.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 25—The difference between the locomotive engineers on the Gould railroads and the official of that system have been amicably settled and a strike prevented. The following schedule of wages was agreed on: Three and a half cents per mile for passenger engineers and four cents per mile for freight engineers; 100 miles or less to constitute a day's work, and all over 100 miles to be paid for at the same rate; engineers running pushers to receive $90 per month; switch engineers $80 per month; all detentions over two hours to be paid for at the rate of thirty-five cents per hour. These terms are somewhat under the original demands, but the engineers seem to be very well satisfied with them. It was further agreed that no engineer shall be discharged without fair and impartial investigation, providing the engineer first submit his case in writing to the proper officers, of his road, and if found innocent he is to receive half pay for the time lost during the investigation.

Bold Robbery.

BALTIMORE, Md., September 25.—Two men entered the cashier's room of Wilson, Colston & Co., brokers, this morning, and engaged in conversation with the cashier in reference to the purchase of some bonds. When about to depart one of the men seized a package of Columbia and Greenville railroad bonds containing $12,000 worth, and the two men ran down the stairs and escaped. It is not thought the bonds will be negotiated, as banks and brokers have been notified throughout the country.

At the postoffice to-day a man attempted to snatch a package containing $35,000 in money from the messenger of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank, but the messenger held so firmly to the package that the man let go and made his escape. He is supposed to be one of the parties who stole the bonds from Colston & Co.'s office.

War Against Mahone.

NEW YORK, September 26.—A Richmond special to the Post says: "It is stated upon high authority that one of the most prominent colored men in the county will come to Virginia in a few days and take the stump for the straight-out republicans. This man is believed to be Fred Douglass, although it is not certain. The speaker is closely allied to Mr. Blaine, and it is given out that he will tell the Virginia republicans upon Mr. Blaine's authority that those who continue to act with Mahone in the state will not hereafter be recognized by the national republican leaders and cannot hereafter expect any benefits from that party.

Collision.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Captain Roberts, of the steamship Leporte, which arrived here to-day from Hull, reports that on September 21 at 10 o'clock p. m. during a thick fog she collided with the steamship Edam, which sailed from Jersey City for Amsterdam September 20. The passengers 21 in number and crew numbering 52, of the Edam, were taken on board the Leporte. The third engineer and assistant engineer of the Edam were lost. The Leporte subsequently passed through the debris of the Edam, which from all appearances blew up on foundering.

Eight men Arrested.

ARMAGH, Sept. 24.—Eight men charged with treason and felony, four of whom had only recently been liberated from Kilmaenham jail, have been remanded. It is understood that the crown has obtained evidence from an informer who made extraordinary revelations in regard to the existence of a widespread conspiracy.

Accident to a Circus.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 26.—The Courier Journal's Lancaster, Kentucky reporter sends the following special: A coroner's inquest was held on the dead bodies of the victims of the wreck of Sells Brothers' circus train, at New Point Lick, yesterday. It develops the following additional particulars: The train was coming down a grade seventy-two feet to the mile from Moran Summit, and there being only four brakes it became unmanageable and went at a terrific rate of speed. This either caused the track to spread or the drawhead pulled out and fell on the track, throwing the third car from the engine over the embankment, the others following. Seven cars were completely demolished. Engineer Foley testified that he was running with the engine reversed and sand pouring on the rails, and that the speed was thirty miles an hour.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury: "We of the jury find that Ben Case, Jack Carter and Willis Underwood came to their death by the wrecking of a train caused by an unusual rate of speed."

Following is a list of the killed: Ben Case, Pittsburg, Pa.; Jack Carter, property man, residence unknown; Willis Underwood, Mount Vernon, Ky.

Following is a list of the wounded: John Turner White, Lagrange Furnace, Tenn., internal injuries; Abraham Smith, colored, Memphis, slight bruises; Green Mitchell, colored, Memphis, bruises; Willis Blanford, Denver, Col., fracture of fibule, compound dislocation, probably fatal; Henry McAfee, Dallas, Tex, slight bruises; Ben Young, Haywood, Tenn., slight injuries; Robert Miller, Bluffdown, Wis., bruised about the chest; Lehigh, Covell, colored, Lebanon, Ky., injuries about the shoulders and chest; Charlie Mason, colored, Tennessee, left wrist badly sprained; John Dykes, Cave Springs, Ga., scalp wound; George Meeker, Denver, Col., slight bruises about the chest.

Banks Victimized.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind, September 27.—A man representing himself to be A. J. Thompson, an extensive grain buyer, has victimized the Prairie City and First National banks here out of $2,606 by drawing money on duplicate bills of lading, having first erased the word "Duplicate" by means of oxalic acid. The money was drawn last Friday and the fraud has just been discovered. Thompson's whereabouts are unknown. He is about 45 years old, has a flat nose, heavy build and dark complexion. Previous to his coming here he victimized the Worthington bank out of $1,950 on the same trick. There is no doubt that his operations in this line have been extensive and that there are other sufferers.

Surrenders Himself.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., September 26.—Colonel James B. Price, of Jefferson City, one of the most prominent mail contractors of the west and one of the defendants now under indictment at Washington for star route conspiracy, appeared in the United States court to-day and voluntarily surrendered himself, presenting a copy of the indictment and warrant issued from Washington. Colonel Price states that he has been for some time absent from home under treatment. As soon as he returned and was informed of the matter he came to make answer to the authorities. He gave bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars to appear before the next term of court and the bond was forwarded to Washington for approval.

The Khedive.

CAIRO, September 26.—A grand reception was held at the Ghezireh palace by the khedive to-day. Nearly a thousand representatives of the different villages were present. The khedive refused to receive many implicated pashas and boys who came to profess loyalty, and warned the Ulemas and other high personages that they would be severely punished if they lapsed into disloyalty. The principal British officers and their staffs were present. General Wolseley, however, was indisposed and unable to attend. The ceremony of the presentation to the general of the decoration by the khedive did not take place.

Y. M. C. A. in Conference.

WILLIAMSPORT, Sept. 26.—A state conference of general secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association met here this evening. The opening exercises were conducted by J. L. Gordon, of Easton. The proceedings consisted principally of the discussion and reading of papers. The meeting will be continued to-morrow and on Thursday the state convention will be held. Rev. S. A. Taggart, state secretary, was among those present to-day.

Winter Work.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The Young Men's Christian association of this city sent invitations to the ministers throughout the northwest for a convention to be held here on October 11, 12 and 13 to consider the question of revival work during the coming winter. Over four hundred and fifty ministers have signified their intention to be present.

Phipps heard From.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 26.—The Phipps extradition case came up before Judge Sinclair this morning. District Attorney Graham, of Philadelphia, presented several depositions, and after a lengthy argument of counsel the case was adjourned until October 7, in order to procure further evidence.

Won't Speak in Virginia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Frederick Douglass has been interviewed in regard to the published statement that a prominent colored man is about to stump Virginia for the straight-out republicans, coupled with the conjecture that Douglass is the man. Mr. Douglass says that he has no intention of stumping Virginia. His sympathies are with the Mahone movement, but he does not intend to go to Virginia to speak. He has received an invitation to go to Ohio, but will decline for the reason that he feels himself getting too old to stand travel. Mr. Douglass suggests that John M. Langston may be the man referred to, but of this he has no knowledge.

Charged With Bribery.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 27.—In the republican convention, Seventh district, after a bitter struggle, which has lasted for one week, E. W. Mackey, white, was nominated for congress on the 251st ballot. A stormy scene ensued, Mackey's colored competitors, Lee and Small, charging Mackey with having secured his nomination by bribery. Lee displayed as evidence a promissory note for $250, given by Mackey to a delegate for his vote. It is understood that there is to be no democratic candidate in the district, and Lee and Small are expected to run against Mackey, thus making a triangular republican fight.

Officers Elected.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 27.—At the state conference of the Young Men's Christian association the report of the general secretaries was resumed this morning. F. A. Hatch, of Erie, was elected president, and Daljordon, of Philadelphia, secretary. Papers were read by S. B. Herr, of Reading, and J. S. Gordon, of Easton.

At the afternoon session papers were presented by W. E. Wayte, of Germantown; R. A. Orr, of Pittsburg, and T. T. Horney, of Scranton. The evening session was devoted to the consideration of "Boys' Work" and to holding a representative board of managers' meeting.

Better Late Than Never.

WHEELING, W. Va., September 27.—Local Inspectors Young and Wilson to-day signed the report of their decision in the matter of the collision between the John Lomas and the Scioto on the Ohio river, near Mingo, on the night of July 4, by which over fifty lives were lost. They recommended that the license of Keeler, the pilot of the Scioto, be revoked, and as to that of Long, of the Lomas, they disagree, Wilson favoring the revocation of his papers and Young holding him blameless. The matter in dispute is referred to Supervising Inspector Fehrenbach for decision.

Scared by a Woman.

NEW YORK, September 27.—The Ford brothers, Charles and Rob, are on exhibition at a cheap show in Brooklyn. They were badly frightened last night by the appearance of a woman closely veiled whom they asserted was the wife of Frank James and whom they say has threatened to take their lives when they are not expecting it. The woman, after glancing around the place, entered a closed carriage and was driven rapidly away.

Combat in a Church.

WYTHEVILLE, Va., Sept. 27.—During the session of the Baptist association at Hampton Cross Roads yesterday two young men under the influence of liquor began a pistol combat in the church, causing a panic among the worshippers. Levi Bryson was fatally shot by Jerry Cox, but succeeded in fatally shooting Cox. Both died in the church. Many were injured by being trampled during the panic.

A MIRACLE.—Whenever there is an extraordinary occurrence—a team runs over a child without hurting it; a mechanic falls from a third-story window, and in a week after he is at work again, we are wont to exclaim, "what a miracle!" So, when Mrs. T. S. Ererline, then of Allegheny City, Pa., had been sick with Consumption for a very long time, had been told by several of the best physicians of that city that her time was but for a few hours, that she must die, and when the use of but one bottle of Peruna in a week's time placed her on her feet again and made her the heartiest eater of the family, all the people around, as with one rejoicing voice, exclaimed, "what a wonderful miracle!" See page 30 of the "Ills of Life." Your Druggist will give you one gratis.

A Quebec farmer, while returning from his mowing lot, with his scythe over his shoulder, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. This showed what little use the universe has for a man who mows with a scythe in 1882.

The peculiar action on the kidneys and urinary organs of asparagus is frequently noticed during the season. Prof Benson recently proved in the case of the Emperor William and others that in combination with malt and quinine it is an absolute specific for diseases of the liver, kidneys and urinary organs. His method has been adopted by the Malt Bitters Company, and this great German food is now composed of malt, hops, quinine bark and asparagus.—Medical Times.

Two sons of Erin, shovelling on a hot day, stopped to rest and exchanged views on the labor question. "Pat, this is mighty hard work we're at." "It is indade, Jemmy; but what kind of work is it you'd like, if you could get it?" "Well,' said the other, leaning reflectively on his shovel and wiping the perspiration from his brow with the back of his hand, "for a nice aisy, clane business, I think I would like to be a bishop."

To strengthen and build up the system, a trial will convince you that Brown's Iron Bitters is the best medicine made.

—The new M. E. church at Scotia was dedicated on Sunday morning, September 24, the dedicatory sermon being preached by Rev. George Penepacker, who also took charge of the work of raising funds and was successful in securing $650.

—In our neighboring city of Lock Haven peaches have been sold as low as ten cents per basket, this season, but in Bellefonte, only twenty-five miles distant, $1 was the lowest price reached. There seems to be something radically wrong in the fruit trade so far as it relates to Bellefonte.

—Amos Wilson, a colored lad aged about 12 years, called at the Holly Tree Inn, on the 27th ult., and ordered a lunch. While the attendant was in another room the little scamp abstracted about $3 from the money drawer. He was arrested and taken to jail.

—A magnificent new railroad depot building across the race at this place is now considered certain—indeed we have seen it with our own eyes. It is not the building, exactly, which we saw, but a tape line with a man at either end of it measuring the width of the aforesaid race for at least the hundredth time.

—The 10 a. m. train has no regular time for arriving at this place. Any time between 10 and 12 o'clock seems to be all that the railroad company aims to accomplish. It is a serious hindrance to business men. We earnestly hope that when the fall time-table goes into effect a little more regularity in this respect may be the result.

—We are requested to announce that the consecration of the new Reformed church in Bellefonte, which had been announced for Sunday, October the 8th, is indefinitely postponed. This is made necessary by a mistake in the manufacture of the pews which has obliged the building committee to refuse them. The postponement of dedication does not affect the convening of Synod which will take place on Wednesday, the 11 of October, at 7:30 p. m., according to previous announcement.

—There is at present going the rounds of the press a suggestion that, though simple, seems to have the endorsement of many as having been effective as a cure for various ailments. The remedial agent is drinking hot water by the tumblerful, in the morning after rising. It is claimed that this will relieve dyspepsia troubles, that it tones the stomach and relieves the system of impurities. An editor of a New York paper says he has tried the hot water cure for sick headache, for upwards of three months, and he has not had an attack of the disease since, although before its use he was afflicted with sick headache weekly. He is now a firm believer in the hot water

THE CONVENTION.

Republicans of Centre County Meet in Convention—The Ticket.

The annual gathering of the Republicans of the county of Centre met in this place on Tuesday, September 26, at 2 o'clock p. m., and was called together by the secretary of the county committee, Wilbur F. Reeder, Esq., Chairman Hastings being absent. The roll of delegates was called. It was, we believe, considered quite a full representation of Centre county Republicans.

On motion, A. O. Furst, Esq., was made permanent chairman and Mr. Isaac Mitchell chosen reading clerk. Mr. Furst's remarks were brief but pertinent, referring to the Gubernatorial candidacy of General James A. Beaver and indulging the hope that the convention would nominate a county ticket that would call out a full vote and be an appropriate complement to the excellent State ticket.

Secretaries were chosen in the persons of William Stewart, Jr., of Burnside township, and Mr. Richard Beaston, of Taylor township.

The following were appointed a committee on resolutions: Messrs. W. W. Montgomery, of Bellefonte; Lewis Hess, of Philipsburg, and Robert Gardner, of Ferguson township.

Nominations for the legislature being in order, names were announced as follows: E. I. Walker, of Boggs township; Daniel Rhoads, Bellefonte; George W. Boal, Potter township; Leonard Rhone, of Centre Hall. Messrs. Daniel Rhoads and Leonard Rhone were made the nominees of the convention on the first ballot, which resulted as follows:

Rhoads	82
Rhone	62
Boal	11
Walker	21

The Chair announced that names for Jury Commissioner would be received and elicited responses as follows: D. W. Kline, of Huston; D. B. Kunes, Liberty township; David Keller, Harris township, and A. J. Swartz, Spring township. Again, the first ballot decided the result as follows:

Kline	18
Kunes	45
Keller	12
Swartz	14

Only one person—Dr. C. L. Addleman, of Milesburg—was named for the office of coroner and he was nominated by acclamation.

The following persons were nominated for Congressional conferees: Theo. S. Christ, College; G. A. Bayard, Bellefonte; J. C. Zimmerman, Walker. Also three Senatorial conferees: M. J. Watt, Ferguson; J. C. Henderson, Huston; George Taylor, Milesburg.

At this juncture the report of the committee on resolutions was read as follows:

We, the undersigned, would respectfully report and offer for your consideration the following:

We mourn—the nation mourns—the loss of the chief of our standard bearers in 1880, Gen. James A. Garfield, late President of the United States—a great man in many paths of statesmanship; a good man in all the walks of life.

Resolved, That our National administration, as at present constituted, is worthy of our fullest confidence. We hereby cordially give it our approval and we recommend it as entitled to the support of every true Republican.

Resolved, That our State administration is fully sustained in its character for honesty and purity of purpose by its Chief Executive, Henry M. Hoyt. He is guided only by the light that looks to the advancement of the interests of Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That the principles of our party, as enunciated in the "platform" given us by the late Republican State Convention assembled at Harrisburg, Penn'a, are our principles and should receive the endorsement of every sound Republican. With these principles emblazoned on our "banner" we are prepared for the battle and press on to victory.

Resolved, That our standard bearers—Beaver, Davies, Rawle, Greer and Brosius—are worthy of, entitled to and shall have our hearty and undivided support. With General James A. Beaver as Chief, victory is assured. He is a General tried on many battle-fields; he has been endorsed by the nation's Presidents and the nation's Generals. We have in the "citizen soldier" a man eminent in his profession, bold in the hour of trial, fearless in the face of danger, pure of purpose, honest in every impulse.

Resolved, That our county ticket this day nominated is such as will bring to its support the undivided strength of our party. It is well chosen and should be well sustained.

W. W. MONTGOMERY,
LEWIS HESS,
ROBERT GARDNER.

Daniel S. Keller and Clement Dale, Esq's, were the only two candidates named for the position of chairman of the county committee, the former receiving 59 votes and the latter 31. Mr. Keller was declared the nominee of the convention.

As but little more than an hour had been occupied by the deliberations of the convention Col. James P. Coburn was called upon for a speech and responded in an exceedingly happy vein. He was surprised at being called upon to address the convention and would state that he came as a delegate and as a Republican (Applause), and was proud of the honor of being a member of that party. It is a party which numbers among its members men in all stations of life, elevating poor and honest men to positions of emolument and honor. It made a president of a rail-splitter, it conferred the same high degree upon an humble tow-path boy; and now the Pennsylvania Republicans would make a maimed soldier and a scarred veteran their Governor. This is the spirit of Republicanism. The benign blessings of sound money, protection and education to soldiers' orphans were among the latter-day benefactions which it had bestowed It had blessed the country for 25 years, during which time the Democrats had opposed every salutary measure. With no settled policy, they demanded soft money if hard money was the medium of the land, free-trade if protection was the popular doctrine. They glory over division in the Republican party, and on that and that alone do they base the hope of regaining power. Mr. Coburn paused and gracefully waived his hand to Chairman Furst to follow him in addressing the convention. (Applause).

Mr. Furst said that Mr. Coburn's speech needed no addition excepting to seal the principles which it contains with a vote on the 7th of November. The Republican party in Centre county is a family with each member working for the interest of the others. The war cry of the Democrats has always been "reform." What have they to reform? They have not been in power for 20 years and the reform which they would work if they were permitted to do so would be free ships and free tariff. (Applause.) Activity in the Republican ranks will come as certain as the frosts, and with ranks in fighting order and with banners flying they will march to the polls and give a majority of 20,000 for Beaver, the hero of many battles, who returned after fighting Jeff Davis, the greatest "boss" the Democrats ever had. At a Democratic meeting a few days ago Gov. Curtin made a Democratic speech which did him honor, without reflecting at all upon the Republican standard bearer; but it remained for a little "nincompoop" from Lancaster county who followed him, to attack Beaver's character and Christianity. (Loud demonstration). If we may judge by Hensel's talk on the streets of Bellefonte his Christianity is deficient; that kind is not raised in the church. It is a most important thing for a man to have made his peace with heaven, and Centre Republicans will resent this attempt of strangers to attack the Christian character of their own fellow citizen, in whose rectitude he has an abiding faith. Gen. Beaver was the choice of the people and no power could have prevented his nomination. If our lamented President Garfield had been living to-day he would have opposed and denounced with all the power he could command the uncalled-for revolt of the Pennsylvania Republicans. (Great applause). The speaker has faith in all the fundamental doctrines of Republicanism, will not acknowledge that they have any bosses except their wives, and predicted overwhelming success this fall.

A motion to adjourn was carried.

Crushed Under a Pine Stump.

A correspondent at New Millport informs us of a sudden and shocking accident which occurred near that place on the morning of September 22d. Mr. Austin L. Sloppy, who resides in that village, was killed while cutting hemlock trees in a log camp. One of the members of the party felled a hemlock tree which struck in the fork formed by another hemlock which leaned against a decayed pine stump. The force of the falling tree dislodged the forked hemlock and stump, and they fell in opposite directions. Mr. Sloppy and a companion stood near the stump. His companion leaped away and shouted to Mr. Sloppy, but before he realized his peril the stump struck him, crushing him to the earth. His breast was smashed and his neck broken. He was 32 years old and a widower with two children, aged 5 and 7 years respectively. The agony of these children when they gazed upon the mangled form of their father was pitiful to behold.

A Great Cause of Human Misery

Is the Less of

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

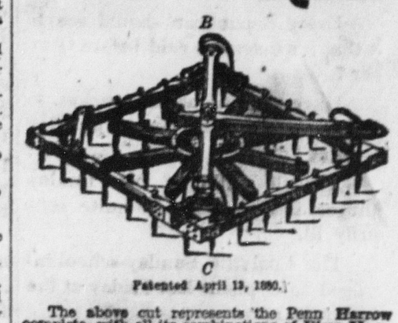
THE PENN HARROW

BEST IN THE WORLD

IT HAS NO EQUAL



Patented April 13, 1880.

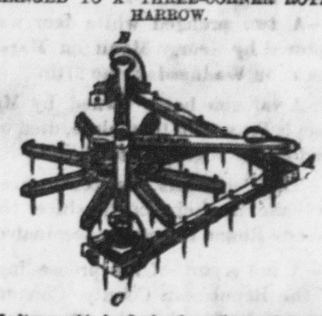
The above cut represents the Penn Harrow complete, with all its combinations of Five Harrows and a sled for each Harrow; and each succeeding change is made from this Harrow without the least additional expense. By hooking the team to either point, B or C, the center revolves and gives the ground Two Strokes and Two Crossings in passing over it once, making it the most effective pulverizer in the market.

THIS HARROW HAS ONLY TO BE USED TO BE APPRECIATED.

See it before purchasing and you will buy no other.

The Penn Harrow

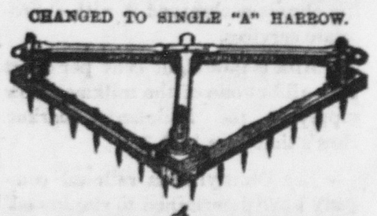
CHANGED TO A THREE-CORNER ROTARY HARROW.



Indispensable for Orchards, as the revolving wheel harrows right up to and all around the trees without barking them.

The Penn Harrow

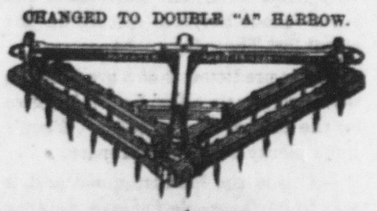
CHANGED TO SINGLE "A" HARROW.



By removing the wing and wheel from the original you have a complete one-horse "A" Harrow.

The Penn Harrow

CHANGED TO DOUBLE "A" HARROW.

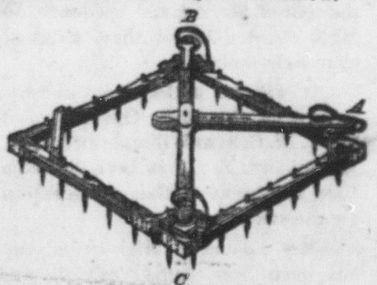


A

Remove the wheel from the original, reverse the wing, and it makes the most complete Double "A" Harrow in the market.

The Penn Harrow

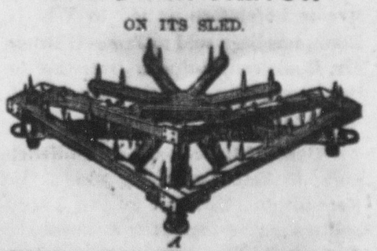
CHANGED TO A SQUARE HARROW.



By removing the wheel from the original you have a Harrow with three points to hook to. By hooking to B or C you can harrow in a furrow, and harrow the bottom and both sides, or over a ridge and harrow the top and both sides, or you can lift either point and have three points on the ground—something that cannot be done with any other Harrow.

The Penn Harrow

ON ITS SLED.



It has always been a great inconvenience to get the Harrow to and from the field. The Penn Harrow obviates this, as no matter which Harrow you wish to use in the combination, it has its own sled to haul it on.

The Penn Harrow

Is made of the best white oak, with steel teeth, well painted, in every way first-class. Formerly a harrow was the most unhandy implement on the farm; with our improvement it is the most convenient, will do double the work of any other harrow and save the farmer half his labor, and is warranted to do all we represent or money refunded. ORDER AT ONCE AND BE CONVINCED.

Price of the light draft Combination Penn Harrow, $30. Send for a Catalogue and see what farmers say.

Bellefonte Republican.

EDWARD T. TUTEN, - - Editor.

Terms, $2.00 per annum in Advance

Local Department.

—The market Saturday morning was excellent.

—"Jumbo" will be at Lock Haven next Saturday.

—Every Republican should see to it that his taxes are paid before October 7.

—Have you purchased a ticket to the oyster supper next Thursday evening?

—A little child of Mr. Dunlop Shugert is reported to be quite seriously ill.

—The Coalville Sunday-school indulged in a picnic last Friday at the fair ground.

—The trade in stoves and furniture seems to be lively in Bellefonte just at this time.

—The season for shooting deer will commence on October 1, and continue until January 1.

—A large number of persons from town attended the Coalville Sunday-school picnic on Friday.

—A two pronged white deer was captured by George Mann on Marsh Creek, on Wednesday, the 27th.

—A valuable horse owned by Mr. Joseph Pruner, of this place, died on Wednesday night, September 27.

—The Democrats have commenced to shake in their boots since the Rhoads-Rhone ticket was nominated.

—A full report of the proceedings of the Republican County Convention may be found on the 7th page of this issue.

—Friday was the festival of St. Michael and All Angels. Some of the churches observed it with appropriate services.

—Milk is now eight cent per quart with all but one of the milkmen now supplying the Bellefonte market. How's that for a high?

—The Pennsylvania railroad company have determined to employ only colored waiters in the hotels owned and operated by them.

—The Calithumpian band—the only kind of which Bellefonte can boast—made horrible discord on the street last Thursday night.

—It is predicted that a great storm will visit nearly all of North America on the 11th of March, 1883. People have plenty of time to prepare.

—This is the harvest moon and is said to be favorable for love making, but as we are not in the business we can't be considered good authority.

—We saw two very beautiful peaches last week which were plucked from a tree growing in the garden in the rear of Mr. Adams' residence, on High street. One of them weighed over eight ounces.

—It will be noticed by our telegram from the State Convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Williamsport that J. W. Gephart, Esq., has been elected a Vice President of that organization for the ensuing year.

—Mrs. Adams, of High street, who has been been dangerously ill, was recently operated upon by Dr. Hayes, with a very successful result. Mrs A. is now much better and we hope convalescence will be permanent.

—The pool and billard saloon on the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets, heretofore owned by Wm. G. Rook, has been sold to James O'Brien, Mr. Rook continuing to run the tobacco manufactory connected with the saloon.

—General Beaver was in Philadelphia on Saturday night, where the Republicans had one of the largest political gatherings ever witnessed in that city. The next large meeting will be held in Lancaster. Let the wave roll on.

—The only change in the fall schedule which goes into effect on the Pennsylvania railroad to-day that effects Bellefonte travelers is the Snow Shoe train, which heretofore has departed at 6 o'clock p. m. and will hereafter leave at 6:45.

—Mr. William Grauer, of the firm of Wm. Grauer & Co., of Snow Shoe, is now enjoying about as much bliss as is the portion of man here below—all because he is a papa. The bouncing baby boy arrived on Wednesday. Congratulations are in order. Here's our hand.

—Gubernatorial Candidate Armstrong entirely ignored the Democratic party in his speech on Saturday afternoon. In his opinion the regular Republican and Greenback tickets will be the only ones represented at the polls to any considerable extent at the coming election.

NOTES BY THE WAYSIDE.

Observations of Our Reporter in Half Moon Valley and Vicinity.

Through oversight, negligence or for some other unaccountable reason there were no delegate elections in Patton township. However, Mr. W. I. Furst, of Buffalo Run, did not forget the day and date of their occurrence, and it was through no fault of his that he did not have the pleasure of casting a ballot for persons of his own choice for delegates to the county convention.

At least one institution—the general merchandise store of Mr. R. J. P. Gray, of Stormstown—is in a very flourishing condition. Its business is of a substantial, lasting character and is constantly increasing in proportions. The proprietor is a live Republican and is chairman of the Republican committee of Half Moon township.

That people who have resided for any length of time in Stormstown are loath to leave it, is proved by the fact that Mr. P. W. Burket, who sometime ago removed from Stormstown to Tyrone, has returned, not at all pleased with the latter place, but quite willing to end his days in the former. He is a skilled tinsmith and undertaker and will doutbless prosper.

The new M. E. church is one of the finest structures in Half Moon valley. The exterior seems to be about completed and the top of the spire is ornamented with a large wooden figure of unique design. If we may judge by appearances, the church will accommodate about 500 people. Rev. J. S. Beyer, the resident pastor, took an active part in its construction, and is justly proud of the result.

A large number of the laborers of this section are exployed in the Tow Hill ore mines. They are owned by the Juniata Mining Company. Mr. Henry Brindle is the boss workman and he also conducts an excellent boarding house. Mr. G. H. Knicly, who formerly farmed for Curtins at Roland, is boss of the floating gang.

Mr. John Wilson is one of the leading farmers near Loveville. So many buildings are scattered over his farm as to remind one of a southern plantation. A carriage house, tool house and implement warehouse—all neat and substantial—are among the principal structures.

As is well known, our large and genial citizen, Daniel Rhoads, Esq., is superintendent of the Dunkirk ore mines. The signs of ore wash on his clothes and his successful effort to be in all parts of his vast domain at the same time, betray the active interest he takes in the success of the business. Mr. Seneca Smith and Edward Rhoads—the latter a son of the manager—preside over the store which is connected with the establishment. Of course the usual boarding house exists in all its glory, conducted by Mr. W. C. Ayres.

Meringo Station is the name of the new stopping place to which the iron horse that travels on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad makes its daily trips. The magnitude of the business transacted may be imagined when it is known that Mr. C. W. Keith fills the four-fold position of ticket agent, freight agent, post-master and general merchant. But, then, he is a busy man.

A week has passed since Mr. John Fields, of Gatesburg, became proprietor of the hotel at that place. He is having numerous repairs made upon it and the establishment throughout is undergoing a thorough cleansing and renovating. Mr. Philip Gates was the former proprietor.

A rumbling, far-a-way sound which salutes the ears of the people of Half Moon Valley is not the noise of an earthquake nor yet the roar of a volcano, but the blasting in the limestone quarries at Bermingham, the reports of which travel the entire distance over hill and dale. It is said that the blasting is done by means of electric wire.

The Fog.

The mornings are decidedly foggy, Monday morning being especially so. Indeed the fog was so thick that street lamps were indistinguishable and the vaporous cloud could be cut with a knife. Many collisions occurred between pedestrians, and it is related that two well-known gentlemen came in contact in rather a violent manner. Each thought that he had run into a board fence and endeavored to vault over it. Of course, they again came in contact in the air and but for the fact that each one gave an exclamation of surprise they would not have discovered their mistake. When they had regained their equilibrium on the earth again they shook hands and promised not to say anything about the awkward occurrence. But our readers will perceive that it has leaked out.

—The repairs in the pavement in front of Mr. E. C. Humes' fine business block are proceeding—slowly.

A Monument to Garfield.

The following address to the people of Pennsylvania will be perused with interest by our readers:

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25, 1882.

To the People of Pennsylvania:

By a resolution of Congress, adopted August 5, 1882, the use of the Rotunda and adjacent rooms of the Capitol was granted to the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, for a Bazaar and Reception, to be held from November 25th to December 3d, for the purpose of raising funds to erect a monument in the National Capitol, to the memory of the late President Garfield.

To carry out the purpose of Congress in this resolution, a Board of Direction has been instituted, and, under their authority a Board of Commissioners appointed from Pennsylvania to solicit contributions from our State, to attend to their exhibition and sale, and in other respects to represent the State in an effort in which the whole nation joins.

The Commissioners earnestly solicit contributions from manufacturers, and from all others interested in the cause. These may consist of money, of articles for sale, and of articles for exhibition only. All contributions will be promptly acknowledged. For sale or exhibition they will be displayed to the best advantage, bearing the name and address of the contributor, until the close of the Bazaar, when all gifts will be sold for the benefit of the fund, and other articles restored to their owners.

The object being only to raise funds, it is desired that gifts may be as liberal as possible. These may include products of every branch of art and industry, whether adapted for display in the rotunda or not, since for the display of coarser and bulkier articles room elsewhere is provided. In an exhibition of this character, in which nearly all the States will be represented, the Commissioners are ambitious to secure an exhibit from Pennsylvania which, while second to none in attractiveness, shall have no superior as a contribution to the end in view.

From what her people can do in art of every degree, from the products of her homes, her mills, her manufactories, her mines, from the warehouses of her merchants, stocked with the products of every land, we bespeak the best and choicest for this cause.

The memory of our great and good men is the richest heritage we can hand down to posterity. No casket is too rare or costly to enshrine such memories, no monument too proud or lofty. Will not the people of Pennsylvania show their appreciation of the goodness and worth and heroism of James A. Garfield by liberal contributions to this object?

Persons desiring to contribute in any way may obtain full details by addressing the Board of Direction, Rooms 94 to 96 Ebbitt House, Washington, D. C.

Matrimonial Matters.

The wedding of Mr. John I. Olewine and Miss Tennie Gummo, Thursday, attracted considerable interest in this place as both parties are well known. The ceremony was consummated at the Reformed parsonage by Rev. J. F. DeLong at 7 o'clock. They then drove direct to the residence of Mr. Olewine's father where a bounteous supper awaited them.

That great nuisance—the calithumpian band—was on hand at an early hour to disturb their matrimonial bliss and the handsome sum of $5 was extorted from the happy groom, the exact good taste of which serenade on the part of the boys we have serious reason to doubt.

Friday morning they drove over to Union county, where they will spend a week visiting their friends.

When they return they will immediately begin house-keeping in the new residence just erected for their reception. It is completely and elegantly furnished and will make them a comfortable home.

They are a very sensible young couple and we predict for them many years of happiness.

A Brilliant Wedding.

Evidently the pleasant season which the young people consider favorable for emigration to the state of matrimony has arrived, for the tidings of numerous weddings come to us as fast as they can be recorded.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 28, Mr. Joseph R. DeHaas, of Howard, was united in marriage with Miss Frankie Bossert, of Bald Eagle township, Clinton county, the happy event occurring at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Joseph Nesbitt, of Lock Haven, officiated. The bridesmaids were Misses Emma and Mary Welsh; groomsmen, Messrs. J. C. Bechdel and L. D. Packer; ushers, Messrs. John S. Bossert, John F. Brown, William Welsh and W. B. Quiggle. After the ceremony the large company that had assembled spent the time in moving through the merry dance to the music of a fine orchestra.

The list of presents was large and some of them were very valuable, including a large amount of silver ware and a check for $50. We hope that the future upon which Mr. and Mrs. DeHaas are entering will be full of prosperity and happiness.

—Some Lock Haven tobacco growers, anticipating a frost Sunday night, September 24, cut some of their crop by moonlight.

[From Saturday's News.]

A Sensational Occurrence.

One of those unfortunate affairs which bring sorrow and desolation to families who have perhaps been living in happiness occurred in a small and peaceable village of this county on Thursday evening, the particulars of which all regret to hear, but which, nevertheless, become public property when the principal parties commit open violations of law and order.

It transpires that on the night mentioned one of the leading citizens of the place found his unwelcome suspicions regarding his wife's inconstancy fully verified, and that a certain handsome gentleman who had recently accepted a clerical position with the firm of which the aforesaid gentleman is a partner had ingratiated himself into the good graces of this lady and the twain had become completely enamored with each other.

Vengeance dire and terribly retributive immediately entered his mind and a plan was no sooner devised than it was put into execution. Seizing a deadly weapon and loading it to its utmost capacity, he went in search of the man who had won his wife's affection. They met and a struggle ensued, during which the injured husband succeeded in firing three shots, one at least of which took effect in the body of his adversary, but inflicting only a flesh wound. It is said that the gay Lothario in question has been guilty of several liasons dangereuses on previous occasions and his peculiar penchant in this direction was well known.

We understand that the young man escaped. But the end is not yet. We hope, however, that the parties will cool off and arrange their domestic affairs in some other way than with the shot gun.

A CORRECTION.

The following from a responsible party has just been received. We are glad that it contradicts the various rumors which are floating about regarding the matter:

"It affords the proprietors of this paper great pleasure to correct the article in Saturday's News entitled "A Sensational Occurrence" and thereby perform a simple act of justice to a lady who has been greatly slandered and to show the husband a gentleman in defending the sanctity of his wife and children's bedroom by summarily ejecting with a bullet the villian who was the cause of compromising a decent and devoted wife.

"The facts are that this wretch was temporarily domiciled at the gentleman's house, while his wife and four children are absent for a few weeks visiting her parents near Kittanning. This wretch who made the entrance to the lady's room was a clerk in her father's employ, had gained the confidence of her husband and people as a respectable man. He entered the wife's bedroom where two children lay near by, light burning, and fastened the door. The lady, not expecting such an approach from any person, was dumbfounded, and could scarcely articulate "leave." The husband, happening unexpectedly to be in the house and a few feet distant from the door when the fiend entered, immediately bursted in and seeing the villain, who had reached the middle of the room, while the wife gesticulated violently, pulled his pistol, did what he could in a couple of shots to drive him off, which he did with two flesh wounds. This libertine left taking with him the cash contents of his employer's money drawer. We wish to state that this lady whose privacy was so suddenly intruded upon is well known in this community and in several portions of the State and enjoys the respect and confidence of husband, neighbors and friends; never in her life of thirty-five years has the faintest breath of suspicion touched her name. Her uniform kindness and amiable disposition may have been construed by the wretch otherwise than intended and no doubt the fortunate appearance of her husband saved the lady from an indecent assault. Nothing in this case has disturbed the relations and happiness of the husband and wife. Their every day life goes on as if the villian had never attempted his deviltry. It is simply ridiculous to say that the husband's suspicions were ever for a moment aroused as to his wife's inconstancy. Any respectable family, employing labor, is liable to be imposed upon by such fiends."

The conclusion to be drawn is that persons should not hold too great an estimation of the character of a stranger or of whom they know but little.

—For the benefit of the members of the boat club who occasionally upset while skimming over the water of the dam we will repeat the well-known fact that any person of average structure and lung capacity will float securely in water if care is taken to keep the hands and arms submerged and the lungs full of air.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. W. R. Leathers, of Mt. Eagle, has been elected principal of the Mill Hall schools.

Wm. P. Duncan, of Philipsburg, arrived in town on Saturday and registered at the Bush House.

Katie Hoover, the little daughter of Mr. Orr Hoover, gave a birthday party to her numerous young friends last Friday.

Miss Gardner, who has been a guest at the residence of Mr. Jenkins, on Linn street, for several weeks, departed on Wednesday, the 27th.

Miss Benner and Miss Mary Morris, who have been visiting friends in Allegheny City for about ten weeks past, returned home on Tuesday, the 26th. Their visit was very enjoyable.

Mrs. Wylie, wife of Rev. W. T. Wylie, a former pastor of the Presbyterian congregation of this place, is visiting in town at the residence of Mrs. Livingstone. Rev. Mr. Wylie is now residing at Butler, Pa.

Mrs. Baldwin, of Montrose, Pa., and her daughter, Miss Fannie Baldwin, are guests at the residence of Rev. R. C. Crittenden. Mrs. Baldwin is a sister of Mrs. Crittenden and the widow of the late Rev. Burr Baldwin.

Mr. John Olewine, the very efficient clerk in James Harris & Co.'s hardware store, took unto himself a wife Thursday afternoon in the person of Miss Tinnie Gummo. We wish him and his bride a long life and much happiness.

"A Plain Steal."

Editor Republican, Dear Sir:—I am reliably informed that the county is going to pay or has paid W. A. Tobias $3,855.88 for indexing the deed dockets, which job he finished a couple weeks ago. Mr. Tobias, I believe, began this work last January and employed to assist him two clerks, one of them for about seven months and the other for three months. At $50.00 per month, all that clerical work is worth in Bellefonte, the clerk hire would not cost Mr. Tobias more than about $500.00, leaving him clear of expenses about $3,355.88 for scarcely eight months' work.

Now, Mr. Editor, if these facts are true, is not the price paid for this work simply enormous? Is it any wonder that our county is in debt, and that the taxes are high? Is it not a plain steal which the tax payers of Centre county ought to protest against? Yours respectfully,

Tax Payer.

—The Republican complains that the Watchman copies its locals.—Watchman.

Beg pardon; you evidently don't understand the meaning of the word "complain." Webster says it is to "bewail," "regret," &c. We merely mention it as a fact and congratulate you on it as the most sensible thing you can do.

The Feast of the Tabernacles.

The Hebrew feast of Tabernacles—Sucoth—began Wednesday evening at sunset. The feast will last altogether nine days in the orthodox congregations, and eight days in the reform congregations. In the former the first two days and the last two days, in the latter the first day and the last day of the feast are observed as days of abstinence from secular employment. The feast is in commemoration of the fact that when the Lord took the children of Isreal out of Egypt, He kept them at first in tabernacles or tents.

—The fall term of the Penn Hall Academy closed on Friday with interesting exercises.

DIED.

THOMPSON.—On Thursday, September 28th, 1882, Edith, only daughter of B. F. and Mary E. Thompson, of Benner township, aged three months.

Now Edith sings the sweetest songs
Of Christ's redeeming love;
For Jesus took her from our arms
To sing his praise above.

BLAIR.—On Wednesday, Sept. 20, of cholera infantum, Rebecca May, infant daughter of James W. and Catharine Blair, of College township, aged 1 year, 11 months and 12 days.

The last words uttered by little Rebecca were "Papa, papa." Death came and bore her away from our side.

Dear Becky, thou hast left us here;
Thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis God that can make all things right
And can our sorrows heal. N. M. E.
